PEACE HOPES ARE NOT YET GONE IN U. S.

STILL FEEL DUCE IS WILLING TO NEGOTIATE

David Lawrence.

Washington, Oct. 19.—As Europe slowly drifts into the dangerous waters of a world war by the old system of alliances, developments abroad are causing more apprehension here than generally appears on the surface.

President Roosevelt is away fishing somewhere in the Pacific, and his absence or presence here does not affect the situation, for it is believed a serious turn toward war or peace will not come for several weeks anyway, by which time the chief executive will be back at his desk.

Fearful of Sanctions

The fear that economic sanctions must inevitably produce war is growing. The conversations that have been going on between France and England relative to what may happen if an Italian fleet comes into conflict with British forces in the Mediterranean are not unlike the hurried exchanges that occurred in 1914, when it looked as if Belgian neutrality were to be violated, and France turned to England for assurances of aid.

The maneuvers whereby Austria is getting closer to Italy are viewed here as having some relationship to what might happen later at Berlin. It may turn out that Adolf Hitler holds the key to the whole future situation because there is no embargo on munitions or supplies to Germany from any country, and hence anything shipped to Germany can be transshipped through Austria to Italy without in any way violating the "sanctions" of the League of Nations.

Want Germany's Cooperation

Germany's acquiescence in the embargo measures and her wholehearted enforcement is an absolutely essential step to the effectiveness of the League of Nations policy. Germany is just now withdrawing from the league. The demand that is coming from some of the smaller nations that a blockade be established against Italian ports is necessarily an act of war. Up to now, there has been nothing resembling a declaration of war from any of the countries allied under the covenant of the league.

Trade Would Suffer

A declaration of war between the principal countries of Europe and Italy through the league would, tragically enough, solve in part America's dilemma. For then, under the terms of the present neutrality law, it would become mandatory on the President to proclaim an embargo on all munitions and supplies to those same European countries. American trade, of course, would suffer because the British empire would doubtless be treated as a unit, and hence exports to Canada, our largest customer, might be curtailed.

Lately it has been suggested

WHO'S PRETTIER?

If you had been judging the international beauty contest in Brussels, Belgium, the other day, to which of these high-ranking beauties would you have given first honors? Your vote, more than likely, would go to winsome Louise Lyman, top photo, 19-year-old daughter of the late Chester Walcott Lyman, American paper manufacturer. But pretty Louise was given third place, the judges giving the chrown to an Egyptian girl, Charlotte Wessef, 18, below.

FISTS FLY AT LABOR MEETING

Lewis and Hutcheson Exchange Blows at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention, climaxed today by a fist-fight between two of the nation's best known labor leaders, ended tonight after two weeks of stormy sessions.

A slugging match between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and William L. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters Union, opened today's session.

The convention's last act was to direct the Federation executive council to prepare and have introduced in congress a constitutional amendment to cover new deal legislation.

Delegates wearied by long hours of heated debate—much of it on the industrial union issue—left a large sheaf of resolutions for the executive council's consideration.

Heated Exchange

Lewis and Hutcheson threw the convention into a bedlam of shouting and shoving when they exchanged blows after a heated verbal duel.

Order was quickly restored after Lewis and Hutcheson were separated. Hutcheson left the convention hall, his face bleeding. Lewis' only apparent injury was a small scratch on the middle finger of his left hand.

Lewis said he swung after Hutcheson called him a "foul name." Hutcheson swung back. With Lewis' second blow, some observers said, Hutcheson tumbled back, knocking over a table.

The fight grew out of the bitter personal feeling that has developed out of the controversy between craft and industrial unionists over how mass production industry workers should be organized. The craft unionists say "by craft." The industrial unionists say "by industry."

When the convention voted on the general issue Wednesday night the craft unionists won by an overwhelming vote.

Woman Yawning Her Way Into Headlines

Round Grove, Ill., Oct. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Harold McKee, victim of an unusual malady, yawned on into a new record today.

The woman, whose ailment attracted wide attention last year when she yawned nine days, surpassed her own mark before noon and continued yawning at the rate of eight to eleven times per minute.

No relief from the mystifying illness is in sight. Her physician, Dr. H. L. Pettit of Morrison, Ill., said. Only occasional periods of rest and ease are obtained by use of sedatives, he said.

REP. KIMBALL PASSES AWAY IN KALAMAZOO

SPECIAL ELECTION NEEDED TO FILL VACANCY

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Rep. Henry M. Kimball (R-Mich.) died today, the fifth successive member of congress from the third Michigan district to succumb while in office.

The strain of his first congressional session, during which momentous legislation demanded attention, impaired his health and he suffered a stroke of apoplexy July 8 in Washington.

Dr. G. W. Galver, house physician, had advised him to absent himself from the Capitol for a month. The stroke followed by a few weeks his refusal to heed that advice. In the late summer he returned home, still seriously ill. A relapse yesterday interrupted his apparent recovery, and he died at 4:30 a. m. today. He was 57 years old.

Services Monday

A special election to fill the vacancy seemed inevitable because of the importance of the forthcoming Seventy-third congress. It will be the fourth special election since 1921, to fill a vacancy caused by death in that district.

Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, at Lansing, expressed regret at Rep. Kimball's death and declined to discuss the political consequences until next week.

Private funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. in the Goodale funeral home, the Rev. W. Dunning, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. The body will be taken to Detroit for cremation. The ashes will be taken to Orland, Ind., where Mr. Kimball was born Aug. 27, 1878. There will be a public memorial service in the First Presbyterian church here Tuesday at 3 p. m.

The series of deaths in the third district began after John M. C. Smith, of Charlotte, had retired at the conclusion of his fourth term. William H. Frankhauser, of Hillsdale, was elected in 1920 to succeed him, but died the following spring before taking his seat. Rep. Smith, emerging from retirement, was chosen in a special election in 1921, but he died March 30, 1923.

Another special election resulted in victory for Arthur B. Williams, of Battle Creek. He died in May, 1925.

Former Teacher

The late Rep. Joseph L. Hooper was chosen at a special election in the same year ad served until his death, Feb. 22, 1934.

Rep. Kimball was the victor at the regular election last November. He defeated Paul H. Todd, Democrat, of Kalamazoo, after winning the nomination in a brisk primary battle.

Mr. Kimball was reared on a farm near Orland, Ind., taught school, was graduated from Hillsdale (Mich.) college and studied law at the University of Michigan. His father, Miles Kimball, had participated in the Columbia gold rush of the 1850's and the son practiced law and was in bussiness in Nevada, California and Oregon for years before he came to Kalamazoo. He practiced law here and managed a large dairy farm near Vicksburg, Mich.

Surviving are his widow and a daughter, Louise, who left Kalamazoo college in her senior year to become her father's secretary.

COMMITTEE PICKED

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Four members of congress from Michigan were appointed upon authority of Speaker Byrns to represent the house of representatives at the funeral Tuesday at Kalamazoo, Mich., for Rep. Henry M. Kimball, third district Republican, who died early today at his home in Kalamazoo.

The Republican members of the committee are Carl E. Mapes of Grand Rapids and Roy O. Woodruff of Bay City. The Democrats are Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace and John Lesinski of Dearborn.

Demos Aim Attack At Liberty League

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—A Democratic attack on the American Liberty League today topped off a week of one-sided political activity marked by a disagreement among Republicans over 1936 issues.

A period of unusual quiet on the Democratic front was broken by criticism of the Liberty League's voluntary committee of lawyers considering new deal legislation. It came from Charles Michelson, publicity director for the national committee.

Borah Boomed Again

Michelson said the committee had not only asked lawyers to join its ranks but had issued the same invitation to "sitting judges," including Justice Carew of the New York supreme court, who had replied it was an "impudent attempt to bulldoze judges."

While the Democrats were, on the whole, watchfully quiet, the Republicans not only debated issues but talked candidates both publicly and privately.

Before a Republican "Grass Roots" conference of eight mountain states at Salt Lake City today Senator Borah, of Idaho, was advanced by one speaker as the strongest possible candidate.

"Nominate William E. Borah and you nominate the next president of the United States," said Wellington D. Rankin of Montana, but no formal endorsement came from the conference as a whole.

Meantime, in Chicago, Senator Hastings of Delaware challenged Borah's contention that monopoly should be the outstanding Republican issue. He served notice also he would not compromise with "any liberal or progressive Republican" on printing paper money.

The Delaware senator, directing his attack at President Roosevelt personally, characterized his administration as the "era of deception" and said no one could "rely" upon his promise that taxes would not be increased.

Although President Roosevelt's western tour was characterized by Republicans as a campaign move, the Democrats were far less active than their opponents.

Borah's proposal of monopoly as the chief 1936 issue set the key for the week's debate. Theodore Roosevelt, proposing instead "the scandalous waste of the peoples' money," was backed not only by Hastings but other Republicans, including Representative Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the congressional campaign committee.

While a Republican in Maryland announced that Representative Fish, of New York, would file for president in that state, Landon for President clubs were being organized in California to advance Governor Landon, of Kansas.

Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, back from Europe, told newspapermen he was "not a candidate for anything on earth," while Borah non committally remarked that "I've been mentioned in connection with the presidential nomination at this stage of the campaign several times in the past 20 years."

QUAKE DAMAGE IS VERY HEAVY

Property Losses Will Be Over $1,000,000 in Helena, Mont.

BY T. M. METZGER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Helena, Mont., Oct. 19 (AP)—A giant broom, fashioned from federal relief funds, began sweeping earthquake debris today from this picturesque state capital, nestling at the mountain-studded continental divide, even as the receding tremors bared two deaths and damage of million dollar proportions.

Physicians said perhaps a hundred persons were treated for cuts and bruises, with a dozen requiring hospital attention.

Only a scattered handful of business structures were rendered beyond repair, but the cumulative total of cracked walls and fallen brickwork led Oscar Bearson, city engineer, to estimate that property losses might run between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Other calculations were several hundred thousand dollars lower.

Bearson said about 150 homes would be vacated temporarily for further inspection.

Public Places Closed

With authorization of federal relief funds, for clearing the debris, scores were expected to be occupied in the task.

Earth shocks, which began a week ago and reached a climax last night, vibrated less severely in the downtown area as late as 11:56 o'clock this morning (Mountain Standard Time). The total of all the tremors, major and minor, was computed by the weather bureau as approximating 195.

The quake, described by Dr. Charles Richter of Pasadena Calif., as "the fourth large shock felt in the United States in the past two years," jarred points as far north as Canada and Washington, dipping into Idaho and Sheridan, Wyo., and affecting a large slice of western Montana.

All places of public gathering in Helena were ordered closed until further notice.

Throughout last night bedraggled and chilled groups of men, women and children huddled about campfires built in the open. Others moved beds into front yards or parkways, and still more slept in their cars, driven far into the Helena valley to the north. Some refused to return even with the break of day.

The two dead were Charles Siggelink, a transient, of Appleton Wis., crushed in the fall of a building at the state fair grounds transient center, and Dave Harris, negro, killed when trapped beneath a falling wall in the business district.

KIDNAPED GIRL BEING SOUGHT

One of Abductors Stabbed in Back During Battle

Erie, Pa., Oct. 20. (Sunday) (AP)—A search extending to three states was underway early today for two men who are reported to have abducted an unidentified woman about 22 years old after a terrific battle.

One of the men is said to have been stabbed in the back by a would-be protector of the girl.

The affair climaxed a series of attacks on girls and women during the past four days, the tactics in each case being the same, police said.

The machine in which the abductors fled was reported to have carried an Ohio license. All roads leading out of the state of New York and Ohio were patrolled.

Police Chief George Christoph said Fred Tarbasso, 23, told officers he was enroute home and was attracted by a woman' sscreams. Running to the scene, he found a girl battling with two men. He attempted to intervene and was set upon by the pair.

Finding himself being bested, he drew a knife and stabbed one of the men in the back, Christoph said Tarbasso told officers. He was struck and knocked almost unconscious by the second man, the two then bundling the girl into the car and fleeing.

A 13-year-old girl whom police did not name was badly beaten a few days ago and a 33-year-old married woman was thrown from a car after being struck by two men, believed by police to be the pair responsible for tonight's abduction.

LEAGUE VOTES TO AVOID ALL ITALY'S GOODS

ECONOMIC BOYCOTT WILL BE USED TO END WAR

BY DALE HARRISON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

The peace talk of Friday turns out now to have had nothing to do with the Italo-Ethiopian war.

It was peace talk about a non-existent war—the "war" many diplomats feared was brewing between Italy and Great Britain.

The war of bombs and bullets, of dead and wounded, goes on; and so does the "war for peace" waged by the League of Nations against Italy, the "aggressor."

The league's "war" was marked Saturday by another sharp thrust—the voting of a "buy nothing from Italy" boycott.

But still the league machinery to punish Italy for its armed aggression against another league member moves slowly. The "buy nothing from Italy" blade cannot begin to swing until the league fixes a date for concerted action, and that date will hardly be before early November.

Tension Eases

If the capitals of Europe are easier today because of the easement of the Anglo-Italian tension—a tension "artificially created outside of Geneva," the British say—there is no lessening of the deadly earnestness that has imbued a million black warriors of Ethiopia to march to the defense of their African kingdom.

The "major clash" so long anticipated on the northern front is shaping up. Both Rome and Addis Ababa agree to that. It will be fought probably at Makale, which is 60 miles south of the present forward lines of the Italians' Eritrean army.

The Ethiopian strategy probably will be to make the Italians come in and fight; that is, the Ethiopians will take advantage of the natural fortifications of the area and defy the soldiers of General Emilio de Bono to dislodge them.

Guns — even American-made machine guns—and war supplies are pouring into Ethiopia as the ligfting of the embargo against weapons of war begins to make itself felt. (Removal of the arms embargo which had existed against Ethiopia was one of the League of Nation's first punitive measures against Italy).

Hordes of tribesmen are moving across the rugged Ethiopian country toward both the northern and southern fronts. They march under the injunction of their emperor to "do or die."

Italy indicated Saturday that her forces, at home and abroad, now under arms total 1,200,000 or 200,000 more than Mussolini promised to have ready by the end of the month.

Action Too Slow

The Geneva action Saturday sounded sinister, but may actually not prove as damaging to Italy as the league intends.

What the league decided to do, briefly, is this:

1. Stop all Italian exports to league members.
2. Stop Italy from receiving any "key products"—war materials from league members.
3. Give mutual assistance to such league members who, by reason of large trade with Italy, would suffer by loss of such trade under the boycott.

What the representatives of 52 league nations actually did was to say that they intended at a future date, to "buy nothings from Italy." That status will remain until Oct. 31. On that day, unless there is some interim change, the league will set a definite date to begin a concerted "buy nothing" boycott.

There were no signs Saturday that the Italo-Ethiopian trouble was even near the possibility of early solution.

The music of peace that tinkled from diplomatc' sanctums in Rome and Paris turned out to be the same old tune in a different key. It amounted to this:

Great Britain said: "Our grand fleet has no selfish oar to pull in the Mediterranean. Our naval policy is in no way motivated by our own interests. Italy has nothing to fear from Great Britain as a nation. We are moving entirely within the structure of the League of Nations."

And Italy said: "Now we believe you. We no longer will look upon your dreadnaughts and armored cruisers and submarines as being aimed at us."

And France, whose Premier Laval has been most earnest in steering toward peace and in pre-

BANDITS KILL RICH FARMER

Money Lender Shot at Real Estate Office Near Mason

Mason, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Two bandits shot and killed Bert B. Webb, 70, wealthy farmer and money lender, tonight at his real estate office seven miles west of Mason on Columbia highway.

It was not known immediately whether the men obtained any money. Police said they had no descriptions of the men or of their automobile.

Webb and his wife were alone in the real estate office on the farm when the two unmasked men entered, one carrying a shotgun and the other armed with a pistol.

They ordered the couple into a rear room while they prepared to rifle the safe, Mrs. Webb told the officers. Mrs. Webb complied with the demand but climbed through a window and ran to the house, a short distance away, to get a shotgun.

Disobeyed Orders

When she returned she found her husband lying on the floor dead and saw the robbers drive away in an automobile which they had parked in front of a neighboring farmhouse.

Mrs. Webb collapsed from the shock and was being treated by a physician. Because of her condition she was unable to give accurate descriptions of the men. Although she was uncertain whether the safe had been robbed, she said she believed the door of the strong box was closed before the gunmen entered the office and that it was open when she returned and found her husband dead.

Detective Lieut Van A. Loomis, of the state police, said he believed Webb was slain because he failed to comply with the bandits' order to go into the back room at the real estate office. He said he believed the crime was committed by persons living within a radius of 10 or 15 miles from the farm and who were familiar with the surroundings.

Although they had no definite clues, state police and sheriff's officers were using every available car in a county-wide search for the slayers.

Webb was a life-long resident of the vicinity and owned considerable property in Ingham county.

SHOT TO DEATH

Chicago, Oct. 19. (AP)—Miss Ellen Anderson, 36, owner of a gift shop, was found shot to death in her shop tonight. Police said they believed she had been killed by a robber.

KIPKE'S SQUAD GETS BREAKS IN FIRST HALF

BADGERS THREATEN WITH FIGHTING COMEBACK

Madison, Wis., Oct. 19 (AP)—University of Michigan's revived Wolverines punted and passed as of old today to score their second successive Big Ten football victory of the season, 20 to 12, at the expense of Wisconsin.

They even needed a bit of praying in the final period, to stop a brilliant Wisconsin comeback that threatened for a few minutes to turn the tables.

The Wolverines completely demoralized the Badgers in the first half, scoring three times on forward passes, after playing traditional Michigan football by taking advantage of every break. The Michigan boys recovered Wisconsin's fumbles and intercepted passes and downed their punts to hold the play almost continually in Wisconsin territory.

Badgers Strike Back

In the second half, however, a fighting Badger team struck back as no other Wisconsin team has done this year, marching the length of the field to score its first touchdown and pushing the Wolverines deep into their own territory throughout the third and fourth periods.

It was Bill Renner, crack Michigan quarterback, leading the way in the first half Wolverine drives. He was the spearhead of almost every play, passing and running for long gains. Wisconsin's backs were completely befuddled as Renner shot pass after pass into the arms of receivers.

It was Lynn Jordan and Jack Wilson setting the pace in many Wisconsin attacks, with Edward Jankowski, fullback, doing more than his share to give them support.

Excessive heat slowed the running attacks of both teams but failed to check forward passes. Wisconsin completed 16 passes of 33 tried for 279 yards, while Michigan connected on six of nine for 86 yards.

Twice in the first quarter Michigan took advantage of Wisconsin's mistakes to set the stage for touchdown plays. On the first occasion Everhardus recovered a Wisconsin fumble on the Wolverine 45. Everhardus sliced through the line for 10 yards but fumbled. Patanelli was on hand, however, and recovered for Michigan. It was a first down for the Wolverines. A pass, from Renner, intended for Savage, was ruled complete for interference on the ten. Two running plays failed but a third down pass, Renner to Smithers, connected for a touchdown. Viergever added the extra point from placement and Michigan had a 7 to 0 lead.

Two More Scores

Michigan took possession again a few minutes later and did not relinquish the ball until it had crossed the goal line, Savage going over. The march started when Everhardus intercepted a pass by Emmett Mortell, Badger back, on the Wisconsin 43 and raced it back to his own 31. Sweet and Everhardus cracked through the Badger line for a first down on the 20. Everhardus was good for another 10-yard smash, ripping through the Badger front line. The Badger line stiffened, but a fourth down pass, Renner to Savage, over the right side was good for a touchdown Viergever's placekick for the extra point was blocked by Lovshin.

The Wolverines scored again late in the second quarter after Sweet

HOARSE THROAT NOT ALL COLDS

Overstrain, Infection and Even Cancer Makes Huskiness

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

When your voice gets hard and husky, you are likely to suspect that you are catching cold, and probably most of the time you will be right. But there are many other causes of hoarseness, and if the huskiness persists you should have an examination to find out whether any other factor may be the cause.

Our ability to talk is one of the features that distinguish human being from lower animals.

The habit of talking in a well modulated voice with proper intonation and emphasis represents in many cases training and proper study of the use of the voice. A soft voice with suitable emphasis when required is a most valuable factor in gaining worldly success.

Hoarseness may come on any time in life. A baby may become hoarse almost immediately after birth due to some congenital infection.

As the child gets older, sudden hoarseness may be brought about by diptheria or other infectious diseases, and may also be associated with small growths which may develop on the vocal cords.

Hoarseness may occur in girls in association with hysterical symptoms and after laryngitis.

Grownup people most frequently get hoarse following prolonged use of the voice. This follows particularly speaking for long periods of time. Business men get hoarse after long conferences associated with intemperate eating, drinking and smoking.

When the vocal cords are examined under such circumstances, they are usually found to be thickened and congested. A rest will give the cords a chance to return to normal.

Singers who use the voice too freely over long periods of time sometimes develop small nodules on the cords which will bring about hoarseness.

The most serious causes of hoarseness are cancer and tuberculosis of the vocal cords. A hoarseness which persists demands an immediate examination as to the presence of one or both of these conditions.

Seen early, the cancer may be removed surgically or treated with radium, and in many instances with success. Tuberculosis of the throat if seen early may be amenable to the usual method of treatment of tuberculosis, and somtimes may be cured by the direct application of the ultraviolet rays.

Hoarseness also will be brought about by an injury which damages the nerves that control the muscles of the larynx and thereby the vocal cords. Chronic rheumatic conditions, tumors, poisoning by lead and arsenic, operations which may damage the nerves, and many other factors may be responsible for this condition.

Premier Laval's reply to England's request for a "yes" or "no" answer to the question: "Will you support us if our warships are attacked by Italy?" was described as a "diplomatic masterpiece."

With French senatorial elections coming up today, Premier Laval's position has been strengthened by his nice charting of France's policy towards a difficulty sea. There is little doubt that laval will win reelection, and there is little likelihood of any overthrow of the present French government.

Zenge Unperturbed By Life Sentence

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP)—Apparently unperturbed over the prospect of the life imprisonment which a jury decreed after finding him guiltly of murdering Dr. Walter J. Bauer by an emasculation operation, Mandeville Zenge, 26, talked of a new trial and worried about his parents' welfare.

His attorneys, Joseph Green and Joseph Roach, said they would base an appeal on the grounds that the prosecutor did not establish the state of Illinois as the crime locale and that erred in barring crime locale Judge Cornelius J. Harringtton erred in barring broad testimony about insanity in Zenge's family.

A defense motion for a new trial will be argued Oct. 25.

had broken loose for a 15-yard gain to the Wisconsin 25. It was one of the best runs of the day, with the big Michigan backs bowling over four Wisconsin men. The Badgers put up a stubborn defense on their own 25 but Renner came through again, passing from his own 35 deep into the Wisconsin secondary to Evernardus, who caught the ball on the five and ran the remaining distance to score. Everhardus added the extra point and the Wolverines had a 20 to 0 lead as the half ended.

Wisconsin came back with plenty of punch to start the second half, taking the ball on their goal line in the kick-off and marching the length of the field to score their first touchdown. It was Jankowski on running plays and Wilson and Tommerson tossing passes to invade the Wolverine territory. Three passes brought the ball to the Michigan 25. Jankowski then passed to Wilson for a first down on the ten. Null, on an end around play, gained six and it was four to go for a touchdown. Tommerson moved it up two yards. A third down pass was incomplete. On fourth down Wilson raced right end, cut in and slid over the goal to score. Jankowski's kick from placement was low.

Throughout the rest of the third period and through the fourth until two minutes before the end the play was mostly in Michigan territory or in the center of the field with Wisconsin in possession.

Late in the fourth quarter Michigan gained possession deep in Wisconsin territory when Smithers intercepted Jordan's pass. The Wolverines failed to advance, however, and punted out on the Wisconsin five yard line.

Long Pass Clicks

Tommerson, from punt formation, tossed a pass to Null to put the ball on the twenty. Another pass play failed, but on the second Tommerson faded far back and tossed a long pass to Wilson. The Badger back caught the ball on the 50 and out-ran the Michigan secondary to score. Null's kick from placement was wide of the posts.

Coach Harry Kipke, of Michigan, reveled after the game that Captain Bill Renner, his crack quarterback, had injured his hand in the first half, but hid his injury throughout the final periods. The injury was responsible for Michigan's lack of passes in the final half, the coach said.

Death Of Duke Will Not Stop Wedding

London, Oct. 19 (AP)—Despite the death of the Duke of Buccleuch today, the wedding of his daughter, Lady Alice Montague-Douglas-Scott, and the Duke of Gloucester, third son of King Goerge and Queen Mary, will be held Nov. 6 as scheduled. The ceremony, however, will be private instead of a great public pageant.

Lady Alice, after flying to her father's home at Selkirk, Scotland, in the private airplane of the Prince of Wales, was at the bedside with her mother, brothers and sisters when the seventh Duke of Buccleuch died at the age of 71 after failing to recover following a recent operation.

Processing Taxes On Sugar Beets To Get Court Ruling

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The future of the beet sugar industry may be bound up in a supreme court decision on the constitutionality of processing taxes which is expected by the first of the year.

It has been indicated that oral arguments in some of the new deal cases before the high court will begin within a month. The solicitor general was expected to ask the court to advance for hearing on November 18 the Hoosac Mills corporation case from Massachusetts in which the first circuit court of appeals declared the AAA processing tax invalid.

The program of benefit payments to sugar beet farmers is based on processing tax collections. While the decision in the Hoosac case will not directly effect the sugar control program, it probably will make itself felt in any future plans for beet sugar production and marketing.

Six vessels were reported rushing to the place where the freighter sent out its S O S.

KRUEGER BEATS GENE SARAZEN

Veteran Golfing Great Falls Before Attack of Youthful Pro

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Twin Hills Course, Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 19 (AP)—The sturdy, knickered figure of Gene Sarazen, the Connectitcut farmer, faded out of the P. G. A. national tournament picture today before the steady play of Alvin (Butch) Krueger of Beloit, Wis. Krueger eleminated the tournament favorite 2 and 1 in a thrilling 18 hole, second round match.

As Sarazen joined Walter Hagen in the discard Paul Runyan, defending champion, sailed serenely onward with a 3 and 2 victory over Burly Mortie Dutra of Royal Oak, Mich.

Revolta in Running

Runyan progressed in select company which included Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., who will be Runyan's opponent in a 36-hole third round match tomorrow; Johnny Revolta, the raven-haired Milwaukeean who yesterday eliminated the medalist, Hagen; Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich.; Jimmy Thompson, the long-distance man from Ridgewood, N. J., and the dapper Denny Shute of Chicago, former British open champion.

The stunning defeat of Sarazen overshadowed other events of a balmy autumn day at Twin Hills. The sturdy, confident Sarazen set a sizzling pace from the start, only to have Krueger match him virtually stroke for stroke, and when the break came it was Sarazen who crumbled.

Square through the 13th hole, Sarazen stroked fives on the next two holes to go two down. They halved the sixteenth, and, with opportunity knocking loudly on the 17th, Krueger answered. Sarazen's approach putt stopped two inches from the cup and alid Krueger's ball, six inches back, a perfect stymie.

The gangling, grinning Beloit player calmly took his niblick and lifted his ball over Sarazen's into the cup for a half, and the match. It was Krueger's first P. G. A.

PEACE HOPES ARE NOT YET GONE IN U. S.

that the definition of economic sanctions be enlarged to include basic articles of supply, and it is hardly likely that the United States government would permit such artciles to be exported to Italy and refuse to ban their export to the League of Nations countries.

Complications would ensue if American exporters were told they could ship staple articles at their own risk. It would mean stopping American vessels at sea and possible use of submarines by one or the other of the belligerents in the event that contraband was being exported to an enemy country.

Discouraged With France

There is discouragement in some quarters here at the half-hearted way France has been represented as supporting the League of Nations sanctions, but American officials refrain from discussing their own attitude toward the problem of putting economic pressure on the belligerents — Italy and Ethiopia. As yet only implements of war are banned for export, but if the British and French and league members generally should extend the list to basic articles of supply, the problem of the Washington government will be to choose between traditional rights to export goods and acceptance of foreign dictation of what products American farmers and manufacturers shall ship out of the United States to other lands.

The hopes for peace are by no means extinguished. It is still considered possible that Premier Mussolini may bow to the idea of peace negotiations and the African controversy settled by some neutral commission. But nowhere is the prospect of danger minimized as the pledges of mutual aid and support are being exchanged very much as they were in the fateful months prior to August 1914.

SCRIMMAGE FATAL

Axel Ahlquist Suffers Skull Fracture at Paper Mill

Axel Ahlquist, about 50, well known Soo Hill resident, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon while working in the yards at the Escanaba Paper company's plant at Groos. He was promptly taken to St. Francis hospital. Little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Ahlquist was engaged in unloading sulphite from a railroad car onto a platform. He slipped and fell between the platform and car, his head landing on the rail, it is believed. An examination disclosed a fracture at the base of the skull.

Ypsi Beats Central At Homecoming, 6-0

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Michigan Normal college scored its third successive victory of the season by marching to a touchdown in the last five minutes of play to defeat a stubborn Central State eleven, 7 to 0, this afternoon before a homeoming crowd of 5,000 fans.

Don Rock, veteran back, who was relegated to the bench to start the game because of his disappointing showing in the contest last week, scored the touchdown that won for the Hurons. The diminitive senior sliced off tackle for two yards to cross the Bearcat goal line after he had been instrumental in the drive the Hurons made from their own 47-yard line.

Normal took the ball near midfield on a punt, then a long pass from Lyons to Wilson, and advanced it to Central's 25-yard line. The gain was nullified when Normal was penalized 15 yards for holding, but Rock, on a brilliant bit of open field running, dodged his way to the 21-yard marker. Defroscia made four yards and on the play Central State was penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness to put the ball on the two-yard stripe, from where Rock went over on the first play. Charles Hanneman kicked the extra point.

THATCHER LAW TO BE STUDIED

Lemmer and Watson Are Named on Special Committee

Supt. John A. Lemmer of Escanaba and Supt. A. R. Watson of Gladstone have been named on a committee of educators of the Upper Peninsula to study the effect of the Thatcher-Saur aid bill on schools in this part of Michigan.

Others on the committee are: M. E. Dunn, Vulcan, chairman, Stanley Williams, Marquette; Dr. Charles C. Clucas, Marquette; George Gilbert, Gwinn; and Roy Norrix, Houghton.

Efforts will be made by the committee, cooperating with the Association of School Board members, to determine if the new school aid plan actually provides the proper assistance to poorer schools.

A report of the findings will be presented at a meeting of school superintendents in Marquette in February.

Presbyterian Men Entertain Tuesday

The Men's Club of the Presbyterian church seems assured of a highly successful supper meeting for members and their ladies next Tuesday evening. Since the announcement of the event earlier this week, reservations have come in so rapidly that the committee in charge has had to change their plans to accommodate the now very evident record attendance.

The speakers, the entertainment, and the entire nature of the meeting remains a mystery at present writing. No specific information has been revealed by any members of the committee in charge or officers of the organization.

Members and ladies who have not yet made their reservations are urged to do so at the earliest possible moment, so that plans may be completed. While it is not absolutely necessary to make reservations in order to attend, it is highly desirable in order to insure a successful affair.

Off the Record

BY SIGRED ARNE

The Roosevelt predilection for following a given course is amusingly illustrated in a story about the President's handsome mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt.

She was late in catching the homeward bound boat at Cherbourg one year. The boat had left when she reached the dock. She could have waited for the next one. Instead she hired a tug, caught the steamer and clambered happily up the side on a rope ladder. She was then 70 years old.

The magnificent national cathedral here started years ago in a little invalid's sewing box.

The hill overlooking Washington on which the cathedral stands was owned originally by the Nourse family. It included Miss Phoebe, an invalid, who earned pin money by sewing.

When she died in 1850, she left a small box marked, "For a free church on Mt. Alban." It held $40, the first contribution to today's great edifice.

Ann Royall, Washington's first woman journalist, would be astonished today at the easy access accorded the press by both the President and his wife.

Legend says Miss Royall, failing to get an interview from John Quincy Adams, followed him to the Potomac river where he went swimming. She sat on his clothes while he, standing up to his neck in water, answered her questions.

The war department has all the records on its arrival, but there is no record as to where the stone masons finally lodged it in constructing the walls.

The story illustrates why guards at the interior building swear by their chief, Secretary Ickes. A taxi pulled up one Sunday afternoon and a man with a portfolio demanded entrance at a closed door.

"Sorry, sir. Not open today. Use the center entrance," said the guard.

"Why, do you know who I am?" blustered the man. "I'm a congressman."

"Sorry."

"Well, I'll certainly tell your boss."

For an hour the guard quaked. The congressman came back to say, "Your boss backed you up. He said rules are rules, and he was glad to hear you didn't break them."

Representative Percy L. Gassaway of Oklahoma—he of the high-heeled boots—may be 50 years old, but that means nothing, or at least very little, to him. He still breaks in the more obstreperous broncos on his famous TX ranch near Coalgate in Oklahoma's Coal County. Washington hears that the congressman's favorite is an unruly outlaw named "Cap" that throws everyone except Gassaway.

SUNDAY SERMONETTE

"THERE the righteous might dispute with him."

Michigan and other border states have been listening with interest and glee to the radio speeches of Prime Minister Bennett, former Premier Mackenzie King, Mitchell Hepburn, H. H. Stevens and other Dominion statesmen on the eve of a general election in Canada.

Canadians take their politics even more seriously than we do. Charges of bad faith, incompetency, dishonesty, and about everything else but murder and bombing have been broadcast from both liberal and conservative platforms in the land of the maple, and everywhere hecklers have arisen to give the speakers a bad quarter of an hour.

Even Premier Bennett has not been exempt. At Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, heckling reached new heights in the campaign. "What about that fourteen million?" "You're all through, Mr. Bennett, only King can win!" "You've ruined Canada!" and so on through a masterly speech. A man must have uncommon attainments to reach the Dominion premiership, and Bennett is no common man.

"I'll tell you about that fourteen million," replied the Premier to an insistent woman. "I haven't got fourteen million dollars, and I never did have anywhere near that much. But I've lost more in the past five years than you'll ever be worth!" And so the lady was squelched amid the roars of the crowd.

When the clamor of cat-calls and questions was loudest, the Premier halted and finally said in the friendliest tone imaginable: "I'll buy you boys off at 50 cents a dozen, if you'll close your traps. It's more than you're worth, a lot more, and if the opposition paid you over a quarter a dozen to come here and raise Ned, it has paid you too much." Whereupon the hecklers subsided, while Bennett's supporters raised the roof.

Many Americans believe that heckling should have its place in our political meetings. Our theory of government is that every man should have his say, and particularly in the warmth of a political campaign. When the man in the audience horns in to a party orator's address here, we usually throw him out. This isn't exactly a fair proceeding, and the Canadians probably handle the situation better than we do.

The political campaigner should be handy on his feet and ready for all comers. Heckling within limits adds immensely to the interest of campaign meetings, and we could profitably have more of it here.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

UPPER PENINSULA hotel operators, who gathered at Marquette Friday, reported that the tourist business had exceeded their expectations this season and that they were looking forward to a substantial increase next season.

The Upper Peninsula will be better prepared for the influx of tourists next season. The paving of the main trunk lines, U. S. 2 and 41, is now well under way. Tourist accommodations have been increased with the building of new cottages along lakes and highways.

The benefits of an energetic advertising program should be felt in an increased volume next season. Much publicity has been given to Isle Royale and Tahquamenon Falls during the past several months, all of which should whet the desires of the vacationing public to come northward next summer.

All has not been done that can be done to promote the tourist business in the upper peninsula, however. We must keep everlastingly at it in order to take full advantage of our opportunities.

NO LABOR PARTY

THE American Federation of Labor has again turned thumbs down on a proposal to organize an independent labor party.

It was Samuel Gompers, founder of the A. F. of L. and its president for many years, who expounded the theory that the workingmen should not endeavor to seek a better standard of living through independent political action. Gompers felt that it was better strategy for the labor movement to exert pressure on the two existing major parties to obtain the benefits it desired.

The influence of the A. F. of L. has been long felt in American politics. The federation has played a part in the framing of platform planks at national conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties. It has figured actively in political campaigns by giving its endorsement to candidates, irrespective of party affiliation, who are friendly to labor, while it has sent out the word to union members to vote against those who have been deemed unsympathetic to their cause.

The Atlantic City convention, decided that the time is not ripe for independent political action and that labor can accomplish more through the methods that were developed by Gompers. The founder of the federation was also a bitter opponent of the industrial or vertical union idea, and it is largely because of his teachings and influence that the crafts plan of labor organization has remained dominant.

The reason for Gompers' opposition to independent political action and vertical unionism can probably be traced to the fact that agitation for such proposals was long sponsored by the Socialists and other radical groups. The radicals caused no end of worry for Gompers during his struggles to put the federation on a firm basis, and this, no doubt, prejudiced his mind to some extent against their schemes. It is significant, by the way, that it is the left-wing element that is still advacating the labor party idea.

PRESS COMMENT

IF ONE thing is apparent from the reading of editorials from papers not only in Michigan, but some scattered in the whole eastern half of the United States, it is that we, in this country, haven't been watching Canadian politics very closely.

All the comment on election this week of former Premier William Lyon McKenzie King, liberal party leader, was on the fact that the leader of the opposing party, Premier Richard B. Bennett of the conservatives, had gone to the people with a "new deal" platform, whereas King had attacked these tendencies. No two papers seemed quite able to unscramble the puzzle of how the party attacking the "new deal" turned out to be the one most acceptable to Washington, save for the King low tariff plank.

The Ann Arbor Daily News, under the heading, "What Is a Liberal?" commented:

"Liberals won in the Canadian elections, but the new deal was condemned. In the United States, President Roosevelt is generally regarded as a liberal. Policies similar to those he has sponsored, however, were embraced by the Canadian conservatives, led by Premier Bennett. The premier and his followers were ousted in the election. So it seemed that the question of what constitutes liberalism depends largely on the point of view. President Roosevelt may be a liberal, as many Americans think. But Canadians have a different view of him. In effect, they voted against him and the conservatives on the same ballot. Perhaps the term should be left out of our political lexicon. It causes a lot of confusion, not to mention trouble."

* * *

The Grand Rapids Press, in noting the change in national administration, goes on to say:

"One of the hopeful signs in the crushing liberal victory in Canada is the indication that the Canadian people have turned from nationalistic self-containment to an attitude which will at least encourage wider resumption of foreign trade, which is one of the necessities of world revival. To be sure, there was a plethora of issues in the Canadian campaign, many of them conflicting and confusing. But prominent among the points in the liberal platform was one which called for liberation of trade and a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States. The conservatives, on the other hand, stood for a continuance of high tariffs."

* * *

From the Flint Journal comes the observation:

"The Canadian election which brought the liberal party back into power, was a most revealing indication of the drift of sentiment. The United States always enjoyed a thriving trade with Canada under Premier King. This was brought to an abrupt end when Bennett was elected and new tariff schedules instituted. One of Mr. King's leading campaign arguments was in favor of a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States."

* * *

Governor Fitzgerald's plan of "control" of the state liquor control commission, is castigated by the Muskegon Chronicle in this observation:

"Considering that the subjects under consideration are the regulations governing a business that it has always been found necessary to regulate, and that will have the force of law, to be enforced by the peace officers of the state, the farcical character of the whole procedure becomes only glaringly more evident. Here is 'control' running wild, with politics piling fuel in the boiler and the governor belt off. Laying aside the question of the relative responsibility for the muddle, as between the governor and the commission, also the possible part played in the drama by unseen directors behind the scenes, it is obvious that the chief responsibility rests upon a legislature that failed to legislate and attempted to place in the hands of a politically controlled commission the authority to make laws regulating a business that, because it requires regulation, is always hip deep in politics itself."

GRANDMOTHER'S ART

Grandmother's garden would remain
    Within the house in winter hours;
It bloomed upon each counterpane,
    Upon her beds familiar flow'rs
Lived on in silk, when deep the snow
Lay over all the long ago.

For what is beauty but a thought,
    A feeling, something of the sense?
It was that beauty that she caught,
    It was her soul's experience
Embroidered forth in blue or red
Upon the covers of a bed.

For, if the fingers can translate
    Some note of music for mankind,
These busy fingers are as great
    That in a garden beauty find
And catch it, like a heart that heard
The stroke of bell or song of bird.

Yes, these are artists, artists all,
    Who strike the strings or blossoms weave,
Who beauty see, and then recall,
    And in some form that beauty leave—
Although Grandmother never knew,
Because grandmothers never do.

CHAPTER XVI

Sonny Boyd was a slight, nervous little man who seemed to be eternally aprehensive. He gave them a fluttery little smile, said, "Hello, Mike," to Hagan, and nodded as Hagan mumbled Larry's name. Then he sat down behind a cluttered desk, and gestured toward a couple of straight-backed, cane-bottomed chairs. As they took their seats he looked at them with mingled suspicion and expectancy.

On the way to his place, Hagan had told Larry, "Sonny Boyd thinks he's a big operator, and maybe he is, but he's a yellow dog underneath. He can't take it and he never could. He'd rat, quick as a wink, if he thought anybody had anything on him."

Larry thought of this now as he looked at the little man on the other side of the desk. He decided that a bluff would do no harm.

"Mr. Boyd," he said pleasantly, "I represent the Division of Investigation of the Department of Justice."

He took a card from his pocket and dropped it in front of the policy king. Boyd picked it up and looked at it, and appeared desperately unhappy. He moistened his lips nervously and said, "Yes?"

"Yes," said Larry. "I suppose you know about Knuckles Welsh dying?"

Boyd's lips curled contemptuously—as if he wouldn't know that! He nodded and said nothing.

"Well," said Larry, "Welsh had a little habit that maybe you didn't know about. He kept a memorandum book."

He looked steadily at Boyd. The latter moistened his lips again and said nothing. A shadow of fear appeared in his eyes.

"There was a lot of information in it," said Larry pleasantly. "Of course, most of it doesn't mean a thing to me. You understand? It's none of my business what happens here in the city of Dover. But there was one thing that did interest me, because it's right down my alley."

He paused again, to note the policy king's steadily growing apprehension.

"Welsh had a little pack of bonds," said Larry. "Fourteen thousand, five hundred dollars' worth of Atlas & Iron River Railroad fives, in $500 denominations."

He kept his eyes fixed on Boyd's face. There was no mistaking the latter's uneasiness. As Larry named the bonds, the little man looked fairly panicky; he took out a cigar, fumbled with a sheaf of matches, lit it, and puffed furiously to conceal his state of nerves. His discomfiture was so evident that Larry was emboldened to carry his bluff through.

"He had those bonds," he said, "and his little memorandum book told where he got them. Now Mr. Boyd"—Larry leaned forward—"I'd like to know just where you got them before you gave them to him."

* * *

There was a moment's silence. Boyd took the cigar out of his mouth and looked defiantly up at the federal man, but his defiance was poor stuff, and he seemed to realize it. He started to issue a general denial, and the words stuck before he got half of them out; and at last he managed to say, "What—what's the matter with 'em?" Then, recovering himself, he gave a little laugh and said, "But somebody's been kidding you, of course, Mr. Glenn. I never had no bonds like them."

Hagan growled. "You're a lousy liar, Sonny." Boyd jerked his head toward the detective. Government men scared him, but a city detective was only a copper, and no copper could touch Sonny Boyd.

"Listen," he snarled at Hagan.

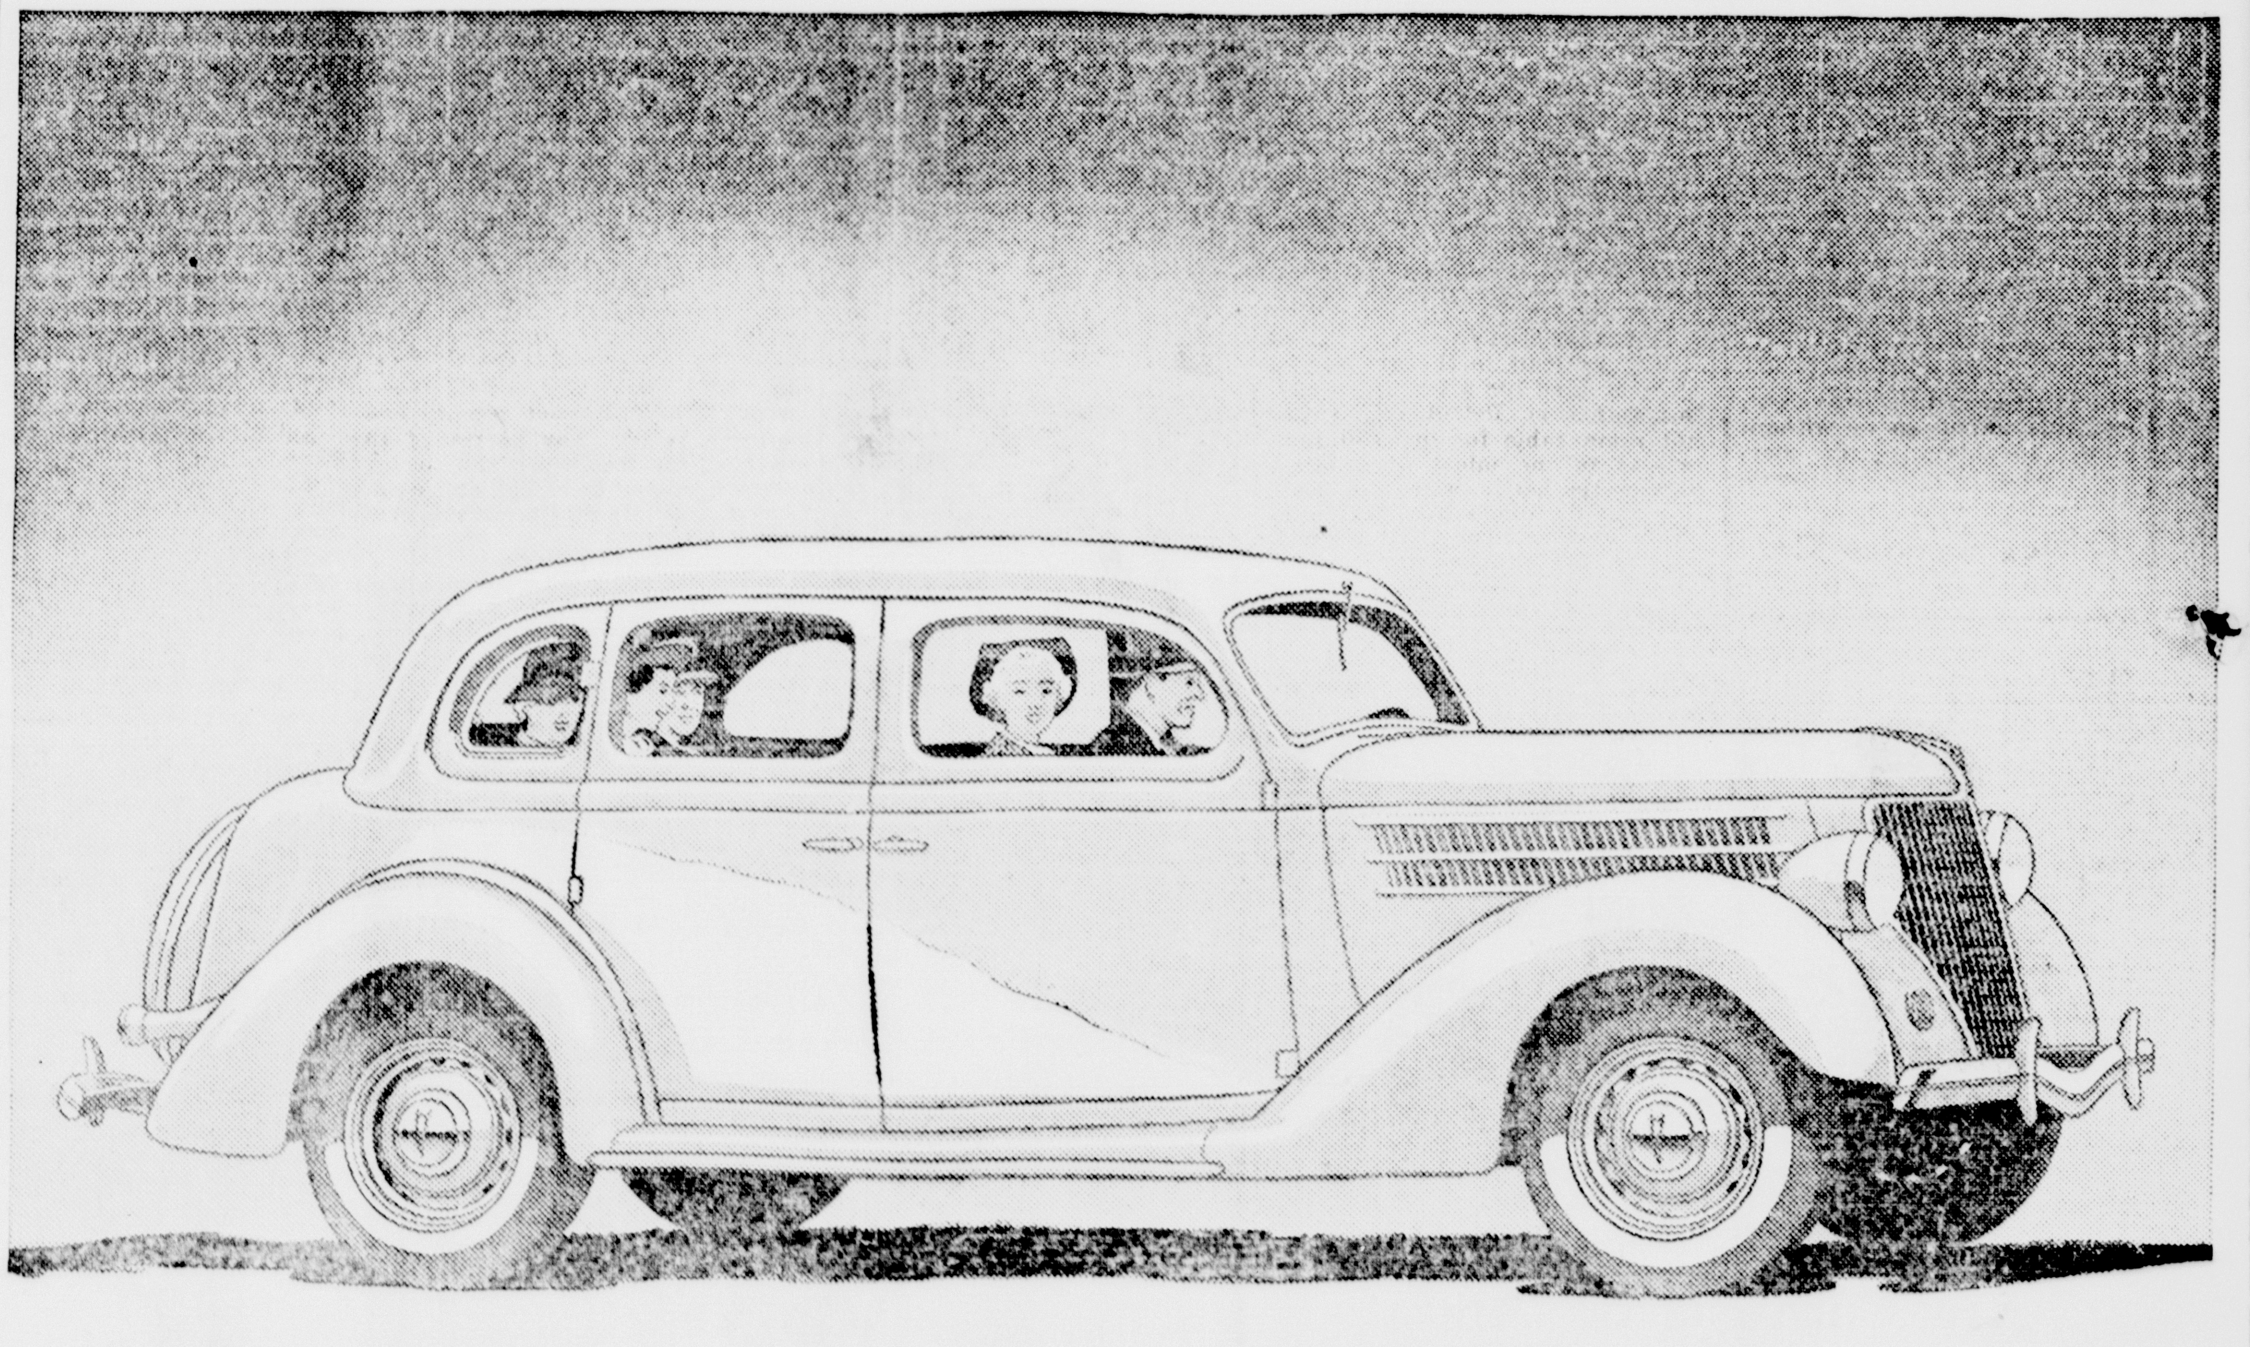
NOW ON DISPLAY



THE NEW FORD V·8 FOR 1936

Distinguished new beauty of line has been combined with the outstanding comfort, safety and performance that have put the Ford V-8 in a class by itself. The car that led all others in 1935 has been made still better for the new year. It has been proved by the past and improved for the future. The New Ford provides every modern feature, with the assurance of satisfactory service. There are no experiments in it—nothing that has not been tried and tested. This means a great deal to motorists—especially in mechanical construction and safety. . . . The Ford gives you distinctly better performance because of its V-8 engine—it stands out also because it is such a safe car. The Steel Body, Safety Glass all around and Super-Safety Brakes provide exceptional security. . . . The Ford V-8 for 1936 is the finest, safest, most reliable Ford ever built.

New Modern Lines—New longer hood extends gracefully over the distinctive new radiator grille, accentuating the length of the car. New larger fenders, with a wide flare, contribute to the imposing front-end appearance. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New hood louvres. Steel wheels of entirely new design. Rich, enduring upholstery. Attractive appointments.

New Easier Steering—Steering gear ratio increased. Steering gear sector shaft mounted on roller bearings.

New Gear Shifting—Easier, quicker, smoother. Shorter distance for gear shift lever to travel. Quiet shifting. Quiet running in all speeds because of silent helical gears.

Super-Safety Brakes—Safest, most reliable type of brakes under all driving conditions. Mechanical brakes of the same proved design as have been used for years on America's finest cars. Extra large braking area. Easy to apply.

Welded Steel Bodies—The Ford V-8 has a genuine all-steel body structure—electrically welded for still greater strength.

Safety Glass Throughout—All Ford body types are equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost.

V-8 Engine—Fine-car power, speed, acceleration and smoothness. The reliability of the Ford V-8 engine has been proved in actual service by more than two million motorists—over a million Ford V-8s purchased in the last year. Figures show that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford ever built. Every year the Ford costs less to run.

No "Breaking In"—The Ford V-8 engine is made to such high standards of precision that it requires no breaking in. You can drive it 60 miles an hour the first day.

Efficient Cooling—The cooling system of the New Ford V-8 for 1936 circulates 5½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-syphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit rapid flow of air around the engine.

Bodies Insulated for Quiet—The floor, dash and body panels of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are insulated with new materials that absorb and deaden sound.

Center-Poise Riding—All passengers ride near the center of the car—cradled between the soft, flexible springs. Exceptional comfort on every type of road. The Ford V-8 gives a front-seat ride to back-seat riders.

Unusual Body Room—Short, compact Ford V-8 engine takes up less space under the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used by passengers. There is increased room in the 1936 Fordor Sedans because the rear quarter trim is recessed above the new style arm rests.

LOW FORD V·8 PRICES

TREE PLANTING NOW AT HEIGHT

Twenty Million Seedlings Being Set Out in Two Forests

Planting operations are now at their height in the Hiawatha and Marquette national forests, employing about 2,000 CCC workers and Forest Service employees, R. B. McKennan, supervisor of the U. S. Forest Service, said yesterday.

Planting started the middle of September and will continue until about Nov. 10. A delay of about one week was caused by the inability to obtain the services of a sufficient number of CCC workers during the enrollment period.

Twenty million Norway, white and jack pine and spruce seedlings are being set out in 18,000 acres of the two forests. About 3,000 acres are being reforested in Delta county.

Mr. McKennan stated that this year's planting is greater than that of all previous years combined.

Rheumatism Still Has Physicians Mystified

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

For hundreds of years doctors have been aware of the extent to which chronic rheumatism can disable a person. Yet they still are trying to discover the cause for this condition and to find a remedy for it.

The suggestion was made about 120 years ago that infection of the teeth might have something to do with rheumatic conditions, and this idea has been mentioned repeatedly ever since.

Yet there still are some persons suffering from rheumatic disease who have not been relieved of trouble when their teeth were cleared of all infection.

As a result, many specialists are convinced that infection is not the leading cause of rheumatism.

* * *

Many specialists think that faulty nutrition and wrong diet are the most significant factors. Many just as a responsible authorities believe that diet is not so important, and that correction will not prevent chronic disorders.

Most physicians who make a specialty of rheumatic conditions are apt to try a wide variety of treatments to keep it under control. They may use vaccines made directly from infections in their patients' bodies, or they may try vaccines collected from other rheumatic sufferers.

They may apply heat to the joints, in the form of hot baths or dry eltctrical methods, and these seem to aid in controlling some of the serious symptoms.

* * *

Some physicians depend largely on drugs which relieve the pain and which seem to give the body opportunity to recover.

Yet all these treatments, while they relieve a person, do not seem to be specific methods for controlling this disease.

Perhaps several factors may be involved in bringing about the rheumatic attack, so that the only certain method of control may be determination of the factors responsible in each case and application of treatment directed at each one of these factors.

Short History of Michigan

Aroused by the failure of his attempted compromise between the territory of Michigan and the state of Ohio, Gov. Horner left the "executive mansion" in Detroit and rode in the hotbed of antagonism in lower Monroe county. His friends have pointed with pride to his courage in making the solitary ride in October, 1835, while his enemies claimed that the territorial militia had refused to accompany him. In Monroe a combination of events brought a somewhat peaceful solution to the legal strugggle; Ohio decided to postpone the election in the disputed Lucas county; the Michigan judge, finally realizing the possibilities of a heated court session, modified his tactics; and the citizenry calmed down in anticipation of the change of government in November, which would bring Stevens T. Mason back as executive.

In a letter to the secretary of state Horner wrote: "If that election (the one scheduled by Ohio in Lucas county) had progressed there would have existed great difficulties in this country." He then describes the antagonistic temper of the Michigan people, congratulates himself on his success, and includes a severe condemnation of the Michigan desire for statehood.

* * *

Cadillac's audience with Louis XIV bore fruit in the grant of a tract of land for a fort and trading rights at Detroit. This was not remarkable for in 1700 Louis was in the midst of a bitter diplomatic battle with the English and Cadillac's plan was aimed at the English trading invasion of New France.

Michigan In Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Even the most accurate business man finds it difficult to answer the question, "How is business?" If he lands a big order he is too enthusiastic. If the next day he breaks his glasses, pays some pressing bills, and has a low sales record, of course, "business is rotten." He is a bad barometer, so it is a relief to have the Department of Commerce go on record that there was a nation-wide sharp spurt in the retail business during September.

* * *

Only a few days in Washington is necessary to convince anyone that it takes a powerful long time for the government to act. There is a chap in Battle Creek, Will A. Helmer, who waited eighteen years for the $15,090 check he got this week from the treasury department. Mr. Helmer has a farm adjacent to Camp Custer and back in the world war days the United States government built a railroad through it and destroyed some fruit trees. Ever since a bill has popped up at every session of congress to pay this rental claim. Congressman Henry M. Kimball of Kalamazoo had the honor of introducing the victorious bill.

* * *

A lot of people do not know that Michigan is one of the largest producers of peppermint oils in the country—but it may lose that status unless the farmers can shake themselves free of any monopoly on the purchase of oil, which has been known to force an opening market price of $2.50 a pound down to $1.25. Congressman Fred L. Crawford, of the Eighth District, secured the aid of the Federal Trade Commission, which will include an investigation of crop conditions in a survey of agricultural producers, now in progress. Maybe to be loyal to the Maize and Blue we better urge all the children to eat more peppermint candy and to chew more peppermint gum.

* * *

All the stamp collectors in the state should be agog over the first Michigan stamp. It commemorates the centennial anniversary of the statehood and is of the three-cent denomination. It is, indeed, remarkable how much they manage to get on a little stamp. Every lover of the forest and lakes will be glad they squeezed on a tribute to our scenic beauties. Lansing is the only city in the United States where you can buy one of the first issue on November 1st. The first-day cancelled stamps, of course, will have the greatest value.

* * *

The sports pages of the Washington papers annoy me. A big football streamer tells the world that U. of M. is victorious—and I discover they got out the big type for the University of Maryland. Even the most ardent football fans from Ann Arbor would not object to the listing of Eastern games first, but this putting Michigan third from the bottom in the Western line-up is hard to take.

* * *

If you want to kill an urge to write the great American Novel, just walk down the miles of stacks of books in the congressional library—and you'll realize it is your patriotic duty to refrain.

Both the old parties have been and are continually conniving at the reign of monopoly. One refuses when in power to enforce the law against monopoly and the other when in power suspends the law. —Senator Borah.

THRIFT A DEFINITION

One definition given in the dictionary is: "The state of one who thrives."

Since money is only a means to an end—useless until exchanged for something else, thrift does not mean hoarding. It does mean careful buying, regulating your expenditures so that they are well within your income.

If you put the difference into a savings account with this bank, we not only keep it safe for you, but pay compound interest which adds to the total of your deposits.

In this way you grow financially—having money at the time you need it, instead of standing still or even being in debt to the future.

Ever since the mythical days of Robin Hood, wildlife and forests have been closely linked.

True, in the days of Charlemangne and of William the Conqueror, in France and England, this close association also applies to pioneer and modern days in our own country. The conquest of our West is an example in point.

For as industry and agriculture pierced the wilderness—as forests receded before the ax of settler and lumberman—the natural ranges of many wildlife species receded. And so marked has been this wildlife retreat that almost 75 percent of all western big-game ranges are now confined, it is said, to federally owned National Forests of the West.

Let me give you another bit of information which the National Resources Board report reveals about the close relationship between forests and wildlife. It is this: The number of game animals has increased 100 percent—between the years 1921 and 1933—on the National Forests, but it has markedly decreased on forest lands in general in this country.

Wildlife Valuable Asset

Now the 160 odd million acres of federally owned National Forests, where game has increased so phenomenally, have been managed and kept productive for more than 30 years. But of the 395 million acres of commercial forest lands in private ownership—on which game has decreased, and is still decreasing—more than 380 million acres have lacked so management as might, by any stretch of the imagination, keep them productive.

This interesting relationship between forests and wildlife, verified in older countries, indicates that real management of forest and woodland resources contributes very greatly to wildlife welfare. And this is a fact to which due weight must be given in planning the new forest economy. For wildlife affects the happiness and satisfaction of more than 13 million hunters and fishermen; it is a forest resource the total national value of which is estimated by the Biological Survey to exceed one billion dollars annually.

Other Resources

It is, however, but one of many resources upon which forest lands, constituting almost one-third of the total land area of the United States, support or exert a major influence. For forests and forest lands provide full-time work—in normal times—for 1,300,000 people; they assure supplemental cash incomes for two and one-half million farmers. Forested slopes help conserve and regulate life-giving water for irrigation, power and domestic use. The presence of forest cover is a most effective means for the control of floods and erosion.

More than 330 million acres of our forest lands are grazed by domestic livestock; from 144 million acres of western forest lands, some two and one-half million cattle and 12 million sheep—valued at more than 145 million dollars—get three to eight month's feed each year. The 160 odd million acres of federally owned Naitonal Forests now constitute, as I have said, almost 75 percent of our remaining big-game range. And more than 30 million people annually seek rest and recreation in the National Forests alone. So much for statistics.

These Federal National Forests are now located in 37 states and the two territories of Alaska and Puerto Rico. Easily accessible from highways and rail, their timbered slopes, snow clad peaks, rushing streams and placid mountain lakes afford a rich variety of recreational opportunities. A single visitor within a single National Forest may combine, on one trip, modern hotels and free camp grounds; fishing, hunting, and berry picking; botanizing, mountaineering, and the study of geology. He may travel by automobile, on foot, or with saddle and pack stock. He can follow roads or trails from one federal camp ground to the next, or he may set out for any one of 68 acres which, are known as Primitive acres.

Informal and domestic, all these uses are subject to a minimum of supervision. And always, in the National Forests, the visitor may see and enjoy wildlife. For in the forest recreation and wildlife are companion resources.

But how, you may ask, do recreation and wildlife fit into the new forest economy? In two ways: first, they help provide rest and relaxation to millions of people; return rich dividends in health and spiritual well being so that we may tackle, with renewed vigor, our every day tasks. Second, they help provide a livelihood for hundreds of people who live, in, or near forested areas. Witness the $1,700,000,000 which forest recreationists-including hunters and fishermen—spent in 1929 for meals and lodgings, sportsmen's equipment, motor fuel, guides and countless incidentals.

Forest Communities

Now this new forest economy is one of plenty rather than scarcity; of stability rather than instability; of permanence rather than impermanence. It is one which reaches into your city and mine; to towns, villages and crossroads communities; to factories in the industrial east and farms in the agricultural middle west. It extends to every nook and cranny from the Canadian border to the Mexican, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

For it has to do with almost one-third the land area of the continental United States; its object is to have this vast empire-which is one valuable for forest and allied purposes-continuously contributing to the permanent support of its fair share of the country's population. And in the accomplishment of this program-forest-farm communities can be established and become an integral part of our social structure.

HUNTING RULES ARE OUTLINED

Regulations Forbid Any Shooting from Car or Boat

Following are the general regulations, both state and federal, under which upland game and wildfowl hunters are taking to the field this season:

It is lawful to have game birds and animals, legally killed, in possession 10 days after close of season, except bear and deer, which may be kept in possession 60 days.

The baiting of waterfowl and the use of live decoys are banned by federal rules.

Gun permits are necessary in carrying firearms in hunting areas during closed season. They may be obtained without charge from conservation officers.

It is unlawful to hunt from a highway without the consent of the owners of adjacent property.

It is unlawful to have in possession while hunting or to have in an automobile any wild bird or animal which has been plucked or skinned so as to destroy its identity.

Somebirds Protected.

It is unlawful to kill nongame birds at any time. This includes songbirds, gulls, terns, herons and all other birds not classed as game, except English sparrows, blackbirds, crows, hawks, owls and starlings.

It is unlawful to buy or sell any kind of protected game at any time, without a breeder's permit.

It is unlawful to use any snare, pit, pitfall, deadfall, scaffold, tree, raised platform, cage, trap, net, baited hook, drug, poison, salt, chemical, smoke, gas explosive, guinea pig or rodent of any kind, artificial light or mechanical device for killing or taking game birds or animals. This does not apply, however, to trapping furbearers as provided by law.

Protected game except deer and bear cannot be shipped by express, freight, as baggage or in any other manner, but must be carried as open hand baggage without cover, open to inspection.

Can't Use Car.

It is unlawful to hunt, pursue, worry or kill any wild waterfowl or other birds or animals by persons upon any kind of aircraft, automobile, any floating device or other contrivance propelled by or using as motive power, steam, gas, naphtha, oil, gasoline or electricity, or when upon any sailboat.

Unlawful to have firearms except pistol or revolver in automobile unless same be unloaded in both magazine and barrel. Automobiles or motorboats may be used to transfer hunters to and from hunting grounds but must not be used in any manner that could be construed to be an act of hunting.

Unlawful for any person to make use of a swivel or punt gun or use or possess while hunting, pursuing or killing any wild waterfowl more than one gun for each person or use any firearm other than a shotgun which shall not be of greater size than 10-gauge, or use any shotgun capable of containing more than six shells or cartridges. Unlawful to shoot waterfowl with rifle.

Unlawful to have in possession or use an apparatus known as a silencer on any gun while hunting in this state.

Take No Chances With Any Firearm

Don't point a gun, loaded or unloaded, at any person, or even in the general direction of another person unless you are wishing deliberately to kill him; don't let any other person point a gun at you.

SAYS U. P. DEER ARE PLENTIFUL

Chicago Newspaperman Describes Region Around Nahma

BY WILLIAM W. OATES
(Outdoor Writer for the Chicago Journal of Commerce)

Along comes the Michigan department of conservation with verification of what our own experience while fleeing ragweed pollen last month on the upper peninsula indicated plainly enough: Namely, that deer have been increasing to such an extent as to endanger their own food supply.

With the deer-hunting season opening for a 15-day term, beginning November 15, in a territory embracing nearly half of the total area of Michigan, as well as in the northern sections of Minnesota and Wisconsin, the recent deer "census" drives in Michigan are especially interesting.

In these drives, with CCC workers driving deer past counters in four specific areas, the count was found to exceed all expectations, considerably higher, in fact, than the winter feed supply of the affected regions can safely maintain.

31 Deer to Mile

In four drives conducted in the Cusino game refuge unit, the average number of deer counted a square mile was 31.4; in four drives held on the Escanaba river tract the average was 35.5. The number of deer counted on an area in the Lunden refuge unit averaged 108.8 a square mile

The state conservation department draws from these drives the conclusion that Michigan has more than a normal deer population for average wild lands, and that deer will increase in spite of the annual hunter kill, now approximately four weeks away.

That deer were unusually plentiful in upper Peninsula was the experience of this department last month while exploring the wildest sections of the great national Hiawatha forest, which extends from Lake Michigan on the south to Lake Superior on the north and embraces some of the most primitive game land in the country.

Rich Game Country

Through the courtesy of the Bay De Noquet company, one of the leading lumber manufacturers of the north country, with mills at Nahma and Manistique, Mich., and Oconto, Wis., the writer was enabled to visit a large section of the magnificent stands of virgin hardwood and softwood timber in this region.

Few commercial establishments exhibit quite the degree of sympathy for the development of wild life and the promotion of the entire outdoor picture as it appeals to the sportsman as this company. Particularly is this feeling personified in its vice-president, Charles Good, a veteran outdoor enthusiast who represents the different combination of sentimental forester and commercial lumberman.

The Nahma mill of the Bay De Noquet firm is located on the extreme northern end of Big Bay De Noquet, which is an arm extending northeasterly from the head of Green Bay. With the Hiawatha forest extending northward for 50 some miles from the company-owned village of Nahma, a place rich in lumbering traditions, the nearby territory is a district of high attraction for the sportsman.

Rails in the Wilderness.

While a small army of CCC workers are building and improving dirt roads leading into this vast primitive country, covering hundreds of square miles of land rich in bear and deer, smaller game and wild fowl, the lumber railroad operated by the Bay De Noquet company still provides the easiest and quickest access to the heart of the tract.

So the motor car was deserted on this trip to the wilds in favor of one of the company's small gasoline railroad cars, or "speeders," for a memorable excursion along miles of standard-gauge railroad tracks, a strangely incongruous but highly effective way of traveling through a game-filled wilderness which is but an overnight train ride from Chicago.

In these trips from Nahma at the head of Big Bay De Noquet to the heart of the Hiawatha forest, evidences of deer, actual and circumstantial, were on every hand. In some cases they were seen ahead on the track as the gas car sped along. In other cases a short tramp into virgin stands of maple, birch, beech and pine revealed them in groups of sometimes five and six at a time.

Deer Easily Found

At the base of government fire tower at Waco Lake, particularly, deer were easily found. Incidentally this tower, located on a high hill, furnishes an unforgettable panorama of miles of virgin forest and cutover lands dotted with numerous small lakes, in most cases as isolated as in the days of the American Indian. At every lake game paths were found leading to the water, with fresh deer tracks in abundance.

Incidentally the crispy scientific manner in which the government is working in this area, both in the reforesting and trail-building activity of the CCC and in the watchful fire-prevention system, calls for admiration and is strongly reminiscent of the disciplined effectiveness of the coast guard.

By means of triangulation observations from two or more towers, miles apart, it is possible to locate the source of even a small smoke pall within a distance of several hundred feet. All towers are connected with each other and numerous CCC camps by telephone and it is no exaggeration to say that this tremendous wilderness enjoyes a fire patrol protection almost comparable in efficiency to that of a large city.

For hunters awaiting the opening of the deer season the steam-heated modern hotel operated by the Bay De Noquet company in Nahma provides a comfortable and highly convenient headquarters. Log cabins in the heart of the deer country may be rented here from resident owners, many of whom work at the mill.

MANY COYOTES ARE CAPTURED

Michigan Bounty Plan Is Reported Highly Effective

Since January 1, Michigan has paid bounties on nearly 2,300 bobcats coyotes and wolves under the new system of predator control which is receiving its first year's test.

The number of predator pelts taken to date is far in excess of the number reported during any year of the state-trapper system which was discontinued last December in favor of the bounty plan.

More coyote pelts have been certified for payment than any other species, indicating that coyotes are more numerous than either bobcats or wolves and probably out number both species.

Up to October 1, the total number of bounty pelts certified consisted of 2,281 and is made up as follows: Coyotes, 1,202, including 666 males and 536 females; coyote pups, 179; bobcats, 888; male wolves, seven; female wolves four; wolf pup, one.

Hunter Under 17 Requires License

The 1935 game law digests make it clear that every person hunting or trapping in Michigan, except on enclosed land on which he is regularly domiciled, must obtain a hunting license from the conservation department, conservation officer or an accredited agent.

Persons under 17 are not exempt from this regulation.

The license law reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person to hunt for, kill, pursue or take in any manner any of the wild animals or wild birds found in this state without first having secured a license to do so. Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to resident citizens of this state and their children and employes when hunting or trapping upon their own inclosed farm lands upon which they are regularly domiciled.

"If he be a minor child under 17 and over 12 years of age a license may be issued on application or oath of a parent or legal guardian, on condition that said minor shall be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian or some person authorized by them when hunting or trapping on lands upon which the parents are not regularly domiciled."

DOE SHOOTING NOT FAVORED

Dickinson County Board Adopts Resolution on Subject

Iron Mountain. — "Unalterably opposed" to the recent proposal to permit the hunting of female deer, as well as bucks, in certain sections of Michigan, members of the Dickinson county board of supervisors this morning unanimously adopted a resolution in which it was pointed out such a move would "result in the wholesale destruction of our game both in and out of the proposed restricted areas."

The Escanaba river country in Dickinson county was one area proposed for the new plan, proponents of which contend that an over-concentration of deer population in some areas has caused such a scarcity of forage that many deer starve to death in the winter months.

Vehement opposition to the proposal was also expressed at a meeting of the Dickinson County Conservation association last night, and it was largely through that action that the subject was brought to the attention of the board today in the resolution submitted by Edward Harvey, member of the county association and also chairman of the board's conservation committee.

Supervisor Harvey held out stoutly for the one-buck law, stating further that some sentiment has been expressed favoring a "two-prong" law on bucks which would make illegal the killing of spike horns, or bucks with horns of three inches or under.

Harvey reported also that two members of the Dickinson County Conservation association, appointed to check the deer situation in the immediate area, stated that on four trips into the woods they saw 31, 19, 14 and 21 deer, respectively, and that indications are the animals are plentiful.

Inspect Stream Improvement

Members of the county conservation committee on September 21 visited the two CCC camps, Sagola and Sturgeon River, and inspected particularly the work which has been done on the improvement of lakes and streams. Men of the CCC at Camp Sagola, Chairman Harvey reported, have been at work this season on the Sturgeon river and at Sawyer and Silver lakes, providing shelter for freshly planted fish fry and otherwise improving these waters. At Camp Sturgeon River about 50 men are still employed on the Sturgeon improvement project, having completed about one and three-quarters miles of the river this season. The same type of work is in progress there as at Camp Sagola. The men of both camps have assisted, also, in the planting of fish.

Never Point Gun.

Never point a gun of any kind, loaded or empty, at anything you do not intend to kill.

DUCK SEASON OPENS MONDAY

New Rules Are Drastic; Shooting Allowed 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Michigan's impatient army of duck hunters is due to go over the top next Monday morning. The 1935 wildfowl season which gets under way Monday throughout the northern zone of the United States is the latest to open of any in the history of the sport.

The late opening of the season means that most of the local ducks will be gone. Few birds hatched in Michigan marshes will be on hand to greet the hunters when the legal shooting hour arrives Monday.

Northern ducks began to arrive days or weeks ago, however, and the fall flight from the northern nesting grounds should reach its peak within a short time after the season opens.

Teal, pintails, local blacks and mallards are not expected to figure heavily in the bags this fall. Some mallards will be taken, of course, but for the most part they will be northen greenheads that drift in and linger long enough to give the gunners a chance.

Rules Are Stern.

Bluebills, redheads, canvasbacks and other deep water ducks should furnish a major share of the sport for the 30-day season, which will end at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Nov. 19.

Duck hunters will take to the blinds and marshes Monday under drastic regulations entirely new and without precedent in wildfowl shooting in this country.

For the first time since duck hunting began, the use of live decoys and baiting are banned by state and federal regulations. Wooden decoys may be used but live callers are out for both duck and goose shooting. The loss of baiting will not be keenly felt in most sections of Michigan. It will strike a hard blow, however, at many Michigan hunters who shoot in the famous mallard grounds on the Sangamon and Illinois river bottoms in Illinois. Baiting is a standard practice there and shooting depends almost entirely on it.

All blinds, regardless of their type or manner of construction, must be located within 100 feet of weedbeds or emergent vegetation this fall.

Shooting will begin at 8 a. m. and end at 5 p. m. (EST). Michigan law says central standard time will rule the shooting hours.

Ten ducks of any species or all species combined will constitute a legal day's bag limit or the legal limit in possession at one time. The season's limit is 50 ducks.

Other limits are as follows:

Geese, 4 in day, 4 in possession, 10 in season.

Jacksnipe, 15 in day, 15 in possession, 50 in season.

Coot, 10 in day, 15 in possession, 50 in season.

Rails, 10 in day, 15 in possession, 50 in season.

Munising Joe Says -

DO YOU KNOW

1. That trees are now being planted on the Munising District alone at the rate of 200,000 per day.

2. That over 5,000,000 trees will be planted on the Munising District this fall.

3. That 600 enrollees CCC's and the E. R. A. labor has made this work possible.

4. That over 85 per cent of these trees will be alive at the end of the first year. Past records make this statement possible.

5. That an abandoned camp fire on the beautiful pictured rocks left unquenched by a careless camper was detected and quickly extinguished by the Forest Service. The spread of this fire would have ruined one of the scenic wonders of the Upper Peninsula.

6. That 25 per cent of all revenue from national forests is returned to the county from which the products are sold.

7. That well established forests in Europe are totally supporting forest communities.

Guns Are Danerous

Don't even forget that guns are designed and built for the purpose of target shooting and killing and the most important purpose is killing. Therefore, guns are killing machines and should be treated with the greatest care and respect.

DON'T CARRY COCKED GUN.

Never carry a gun cocked or with the safety off. You can cock it as you bring it to your shoulder, with loss of time.

Au Sable Resettlement Project Granted Final Approval by President

Final approval by the President and by the Resettlement Administration of land acquisition for the Michigan Au Sable project was announced here today by Reynolds I. Nowell, Madison, Wis., Regional Director of the Resettlement Administration for Region II.

This is the first of the Resettlement Administration Michigan land projects to receive the official 'Go Sign". It involves the purchase of 53,000 acres of land at an approximate cost of $460,000. Plans for resettlement and development will be announced later.

These acres comprising the first purchase for the Au Sable project lie in the northern portion of the lower peninsula of Michigan, and, although privately owned, are largely surrounded by lands of the following State forests: Au Sable, Fife Lake Ogemaw, Higgins Lake, Houghton Lake, and Presque Isle.

Move to Fertile Lands

Final approval of the project means that options now held by the government will be taken up. However, checks will not be mailed out to farmers whose lands have been optioned until the titles are clear and plans completed for their resettlement. Programs for the relocation of farm families affected are being worked out on nearby lands of a high quality of fertility.

The lands to be purchased comprise about 400 scattered poor farms in the cut-over section of Michigan where agriculture has never been profitable although some of the persons in certain towns and villages formerly dependent upon lumbering operations for a livelihood have attempted to make a go of it by tilling the soil against the obvious disadvantages of short seasons, poor land, and insufficient rainfall.

Marks a Milestone

"The successful completion of this project" Regional Director Nowell said today, "will mark a milestone in the working out of planned land use. The situation in this region is similar to that which has grown up all over the country, varying with the different local conditions, but alike in their unfortunate results.

"Areas not fitted for agriculture have been used by settlers who occupied them during the time when it was believed any land was a good investment. Once upon the soil, these families have worked year after year, only to see themselves more deeply involved.

"The Government proposes to lend a hand to these people by purchasing their equity in the lands now occupied and will assist them in locating on better soil areas where the same degree of effort they have devoted to the hopeless task of making lands pay that cannot pay, will make it possible for them to realize the difference between failure and success.

"Nature did not intend this region as a whole to be used for agriculture and no amount of effort has been able to repeal nature's laws. The Government by inaction permitted these farmers to undertake a hopeless task. Now it proposes to aid them in rectifying the error originally made. The Government is not offering a gift. It is offering help and guidance. Even with approval of the project, acquisition of the necessary land cannot be accomplished at once. There are titles to be cleared, tax delinquencies and mortgages to be adjusted and resettlement plans to be worked out. Despite these facts approval of the project marks an important step in the direction of a wise land utilization policy and will remove many families from the hopelessness of failure, placing them where they will have an opportunity for success."

Farm Population Declines

A study of the population trends in the lower peninsula of Michigan over a period of years shows that the cities and towns bordering on the Great Lakes have increased in size, while the farm population in the counties of Grand Traverse, Wexford, Missaukee, Charlevoix, Presque Isle Montmorency, Crawford, Clare Roscommon, Gladwin, Ogemaw Otsego, and Oscada has steadily declined until the depression years. The tendency for city and country populations to push back into or stay in the submarginal farming areas since 1930 has been marked in all parts of the country. The result has been increased rural relief rolls and the mounting economic problem with which the Resettlement Administration is dealing.

Surveys of living conditions among the farmers of the proposed purchase area showed that the quality of home construction is low. Roofs were often made of tar paper, occasionally of hay. Not more than one-fifth of the buildings had been painted within the past twenty years. About half of the families were on relief.

School Costs Higher

In one county alone the schools, largely inadequate and sub-standard, were costing $44,760 per year to operate, for 442 pupils Savings to counties and townships represented by closing inefficient schools in the purchase area will amount to $1200 per building.

In the purchase area likewise there is maintained by State or county one mile of road to each seven persons, which may be compared to the maintenance of one mile of road to each 65 persons in the more densely populated areas of the same State. It is estimated that 64 miles of dirt and at least five miles of gravel roads can be closed, thus eliminating considerable maintenance costs to the State and counties. Other roads, while they would be kept open during the hunting and fishing seasons, would no longer need snow clearing in the winter.

Better Tax Collection

At least fifty percent of the farms in the proposed purchase area have been tax delinquent. Resettlement of the families from whom land has been purchased should result in increased tax collections for the State and for the counties, because of the new occupations in which these persons will engage.

Arrangements will be made to move about 150 families either on to better farms or into towns where they can rehabilitate themselves in the resort and recreational trade near Higgins Lake, Houghton Lake, and other lakes. Approximately 250 families will remain in the purchase area.

The use of the land to be purchased is as follows:

A few acres will be added to the Huron National Forest to round out its boundaries. A much larger percentage will be added to the State Forests approved for extension by the Conservation Commission of Michigan. A small amount will be used to block out present boundaries of State Game Refuges and parks. The administration of the lands thus purchased will be by the Conservation Department of the State of Michigan and the Federal Forest Service.

Tentative plans indicate that the development of the land for its new uses will probably be undertaken partially by the Civilian Conservation Corps and partially by the employment of WPA labor.

REPORT DEER FOOD SCARCE

35.5 Animals Per Mile Estimated in Escanaba River Tract

For some time it has been known by conservation authorities in Michigan that deer have been increasing in most northern parts of the state to such an extent in some areas as to endanger their winter food supplies.

In an effort to learn more about the condition, the Department of Conservation recently staged a series of deer census "drives" from seven CCC camps in the deer area.

Crews from the CCC camps were placed at frequent intervals on three sides of the areas to be driven. Across the fourth side, the driving line men were placed less than 100 feet apart. This driving line advanced abreast across the area, driving all deer out through the "counters" on the other three sides.

Game authorities of the Department expected that the tallies obtained in the drives would vary and probably would average higher than the population figures generally accepted as normally safe. But the tallies far exceeded expectations.

In four drives conducted in the Cusino Game refuge unit, the average number of deer counted per square mile was 31.4; in four drives held on the Escanaba River tract the average was 35.5. The number of deer counted on an area in the Lunden refuge unit averaged 108.8 per square mile.

While these figures may not be fairly representative of all deer areas in the state, the Department of Conservation believes that they are the only true indices to deer populations obtained so far. The indication seems to be: That Michigan has more than a normal deer population for average wild lands and that deer will increase in spite of the annual hunter kill.

Wildfowlers Must Have U. S. Stamp

Eery hunter of migratory waterfowl must purchase a United States duck hunting stamp in addition to his state hunting license this fall. The stamp costs $1.

The hunter must affix the stamp to his hunting license. It is not transferable and does not substitute for a state hunting license.

Must Keep Guns Unloaded In Car

It is unlawful to have loaded firearms except pistol or revolver in automobile unless same be unloaded in both magazine and barrel.

SAYS MURPHY IS FREE AGENT

Hurja Declares Former Detroiter to Decide Own Course

BY ESTHER TUFTY
Washington Correspondent.

Washington, D. C.—"If Frank Murphy wants to run for Governor of Michigan on the Democratic ticket, he will do so of his own free will," said Emil Hurja, the Crystal Falls man who is assistant to the chairman of the National Democratic Committee, James A. Farley, just as he sailed from Seattle, Washington for China and the Philippine Islands.

That makes it crystal clear what attitude will be taken by one of the participating parties in Manila when the private office door of Frank Murphy, the governor-general of the Philippines, closes behind the politically-keen Mr. Hurja and a favorite of the Democratic party for a candidate for governor.

It is equally clear that while the National Democratic organization is most eager to have a Democratic governor, it does not think that there is dearth of alternate candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurja are in a party which includes vice-president and Mrs. John N. Garner, which sailed Wednesday to attend the commonwealth celebration in the Philippines, where at present time Frank Murphy from Michigan, as governor-general of the Islands is very much in the limelight.

Deer Population Not Decreasing

The Michigan Department of Conservation and members of CCC camps have been co-operating in deer counts in the Upper Peninsula and downstate, and contrary to the opinion of many, it has been found that the deer population is holding its own nicely.

In four drives conducted in the Cusino game refuge of Alger county, the average of deer counted per square mile was 31.4 while in four drives counted on the Escanaba river tract the average was 35.5. An area on the Lundin refuge downstate averaged 108.8 deer per square mile.

It is not claimed that these figures are representative of all Michigan deer areas, the indications seem to be that the state has more than a normal deer population for average wild lands, and that deer have increased in spite of the annual hunting season.

Van Wagoner Stops Here on Return Journey to Lansing

Enroute from Menominee to Manistique, Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, and other officials of the state highway department and Ann Arbor railway stopped in Escanaba for a brief visit Friday evening.

Others in the party were: G. Don Kennedy, business manager of the state highway department; H. C. Coons and Charles S. Porritt, divisional executives; Capt. E. H. Doner, superintendent of the Straits of Mackinac ferry service; Ben F. Sparks, division highway engineer; V. Parvin, general superintendent of the Ann Arbor railway; R. V. Oldham, general freight agent; F. X. St. Peter and Roger Andrews, Menominee.

The trip to Menominee was made primarily in connection with the plans to improve the Ann Arbor car ferry service. The railroad is planning to build modern ramps at both the docks in Menominee and Frankfort to facilitate the handling of automobiles for tourists. The state ferry department also plans to improve the highway from Frankfort to the Detroit area.

Commissioner Van Wagoner also gave details of the plans to construct a tourist information cabin at Menominee, on the Michigan side of the interstate bridge, at a cost of $25,000.

The group went from Escanaba to Manistique, where they boarded an Ann Arbor car ferry for Frankfort.

Don't Dress Birds, Carry Them In Car

Don't dress pheasants, grouse or other game when you come in from the field at the end of your hunting trip this fall and then carry it home in your car and don't dress them in the field before the hunt is finished.

A new game law, in effect this fall for the first time, forbids the possession, while hunting or in an automobile, of any wild bird or animal the identity of which had been destroyed.

In past years unscrupulous hunters have "cheated" by killing hen pheasants or other protected game and dressing it immediately so as to conceal its identity. In other cases city hunters shooting hen pheasants dressed the birds before starting the drive home, so as to get them safely through any highway checking stations they might encounter.

For this reason the conservation department is enforcing the new law vigorously and a number of arrests were made under it early this week. In some cases the hunters apparently did not know of the new provision and had not intended to violate.

Hunters who find it necesary, because of warm weather or for some other reason to dress game birds before starting home, can meet the requirements of this new regulation by leaving the heads and wings on, the department suggests.

Watch Your Pals.

Watch your hunting companions and make sure your gun is carried so that it points away from them, not toward them.

Since the fall of 1929, 147 hunters have lost their lives during the hunting season in Michigan. Most of these fatalities were due to the careless handling of firearms, either by a victim or a companion.

During the same period of time 208 hunters have been injured, some of them seriously.

During the fall and winter seasons of 1934-35 the number of hunters who lost their lives in hunting accidents was 35 and the number of hunters injured 32.

Railroads Under Gas Barrage; Are Fighting Tough Fight

BY ELIOT JONES
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities
Stanford University

The railroads purchase enormous quantities of materials and supplies and employ about one million persons. Their securities, especially bonds, are widely owned by life and fire insurance companies, saving banks, churches, colleges, and philanthropic institutions. Prosperity for the railroads means prosperity for many.

They failed to earn their fixed charges (interest and taxes), in 1932, 1933, and 1934 and probably will fail to earn them this year. For three years nearly one-third of the railroads were actually unable to earn their operating expenses. At the beginning of this year, more than 44,000 miles of railroads were in the hands of receivers. In 1934 only 76 miles of railroad line were constructed, and 1,995 miles were abandoned.

Most important cause of this is the decline in traffic. Passenger traffic, measured by the number of miles traveled, declined practically every year between 1920 and 1933, and in 1933 was only one-third of what it was in 1920. It increased a little in 1934, but not much. This decline is due to automobiles and buses, and in small part to growing popularity of air travel.

Railroads are now trying to regain this lost traffic with light weight, stream-lined high speed trains, air-conditioning and reduced rates.

Freight traffic has also declined due principally to the depression, but competition of motor trucks and pipe lines has its effect.

Less than carload freight traffic is most subject to diversion to the truck. This amounts to only small percentage of the total in weight, but to about one-tenth in revenue. The range of profitable haulage by truck depends, of course, on many factors, such as the condition of highway surfaces, the wages of truck drivers, the price of gas and oil, taxes, and the kind and value of freight. In general, however, the truck can compete effectively for over-night traffic.

Railroads must modernize their practices. They must call at the shipper's door for his goods, and deliver them to the consignee. They must adopt mechanical devices for transferring goods at low cost from truck to freight car, and from freight car to truck. They must speed up train movements, especially at the terminals, to give shippers the quicker service that they increasingly demand.

A great deal of traffic has also gone to pipe lines carrying crude petroleum, gasoline, and natural gas. The use of pipe lines to transport gasoline is a recent significant development. One gasoline pipe line is approximately 1,400 miles long. Since it costs less to transport gasoline by pipe line than by railroad, a large volume of highly profitable traffic has been diverted. Then, curiously, although the railroads never transported natural gas the extended use of pipe lines for gas affects railroad traffic. It is transported in large pipes, under high pressure. It is an economic fuel, and is being widely adopted. The result is the use of less coal for manufactured gas and to generate electrical energy. Coal traffic of the railroads—their largeest single item of traffic—therefore declines.

Then, too, the cost of doing railroad business has increased. Prices of materials and supplies are higher, wages have advanced, and legislation—pension particularly—adds other burdens.

As a partial offset against their loss of traffic and increased operating costs the railroads in 1934 asked the Inter-state Commerce Commission for permission to raise freight rates about 7 per cent. The Commission expressed a doubt whether higher rates would produce increased net revenue, but in view of the critical condition of the railroads it decided to put the matter to a test with a temporary and limited increase.

An old negro philosopher once said, "unless a person is in trouble, his prayers ain't got no suction."

Prayers for the railroads would "sho" have plenty of "suction."

Club Women Will Hear Authority on Hooked Rugs

"Painting With Rags" is the intriguing title of the discourse on hooked rugs to be given by Mrs. Fannie Burr Van Pelt before the Escanaba Woman's club Wednesday. The meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Van Pelt, of Chicago, has been closely associated with hooked rugs since their revival as furnishings in homes of today. She is particularly well qualified to give talks of interest on this subject because of her own experience in making them. She has studied them and has made them in the same way as our foremothers in the early days. Her subject is of interest to every woman with an appreciation of beautiful home furnishings and especially to those who have attempted this work themselves.

In connection with her talk, Mrs. Van Pelt will give an exhibit and demonstration of hooked rugs and their making.

The musical feature of the afternoon will be vocal solos by Mrs. Thomas Gander, accompanied by Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom.

At the conclusion of the program tea will be served by the committee.

DELTA MADE MILK DAILY!

Esther Johnson, Eugene Tollack Wed Saturday

At one of the lovely weddings of the autumn season, which took place here on Saturday, Miss Esther Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnson of 516 South 17th street, became the bride of L. Eugene Tollack of West Bend, Wis., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tollack of Black River Falls, Wis.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. C. Albert Lund of Bethany Lutheran church at one o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

Chrysanthemums in rich fall shades decorated the home, their effective arrangement forming an attractive setting for the service.

"The Bridal Chorus" was played by Miss Margaret Johnson of Manistique as the young people, the bride escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, entered the living room and took their places for the ceremony. The bride, who was unattended, wore a lovely gown of eggshell velvet, fashioned in extreme simplicity of line, the sleeves, long and fitted, and the soft folds of velvet forming a graceful high cowl neckline. She carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served at the Delta hotel to relatives and a small group of intimate friends. White chrysanthemums and pink asters were used in the decorations for the prettily appointed table.

To Reside in West Bend

Mr. Tollack and his bride left later in the day on a honeymoon motor trip through Canada. The bride, for traveling, wore a modish suit of black, trimmed with silver fox, and matching accessories. They will make their home in West Bend, Wis.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba high school and has been employed by the West Bend Aluminum company for several years. Mr. Tollack, who is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, is with the jobbing sales department of the same company.

Guests from away at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Hinkley of Petoskey, Mich., Mrs. Hinkley, a sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tollack and Mrs. Marie Tollack of Black River Falls, and Miss Margaret Johnson of Manistique.

It has been estimated that an ordinary gaint puffball contains 6,000,000,000 spores.

We all like this red and gold Indian Summer, but when the cold snap comes, it won't be a snap unless you have exciting things to do, and gay new togs to ward off winter chills. And you'll need attractive new additions to the home that will make you want to spend some of your evenings by the fireside. We hope you'll find a harvest of suggestions "from your shopper" this week.

—Marion

A GOOD cup of coffee can make or break the day. It will turn an ordinary dinner into a banquet, and a banquet into a king's table. This fact is perfectly understood at the Delta Hotel, and as a result, they have achieved coffee perfection there. In the Delta Coffee Shop, in the main dining room, and in the Yellow Room more than 500 cups of coffee are served daily. An interesting fact, that is really a sincere tribute to Delta-brewed coffee, is that many Escanaba business men and women make it a practice to drop in to the Delta at least once a day for their cup of coffee. Next time you're coffee-minded, drop in to the Delta — a suggestion we are sure you will appreciate.

BEND, stretch, walk, dance, drive! The Mojud Thigh-Mold silk stockings at Fillions will give with your every movement. They have two-way stretch strips knitted into the garter top, which ease garter strain, reduce risk of runs, and mold themselves to your leg, whether you be thin or plump, tall or short. In the gorgeous Screenlite shades created by Hollywood's famous designer, Orry-Kelly, and you can get them at Fillion's for only $1.

A NEW idea that is certainly worthwhile is C. Peterson & Sons' plan for landscaping the cemetery lot. Instead of the monotony and barreness of grass and shrubbery, you can plan to have a profusion of lovely flowers growing there throughout the spring and summer. Tulips, daffodils, or hyacinths planted around a monument or against a clump of evergreen will give an effect of beauty and distinction, a constant reminder of your thoughtfulness. Tulip planting should be done now to give you colorful early spring blooms, so consult C. Peterson & Sons immediately for valuable suggestions about bulbs and planting.

SHOPPING trips are fun, but it's no fun to walk home or wait around for a bus when you're tired and your arms are full of packages. Here's a pertinent suggestion. When you finish your shopping, call 2087, and the Escanaba Taxi Service will call for you promptly and deliver you to your door for only 10c per person, if there are more than two in your party. Here's one time when a dime will go a long way.

AT THE Mabel Gamache Residential Shop, 309 S. 6th St. Very much in 'le mode militaire' is the flame colored Russian tunic of matelasse crepe. It fastens with big black frogs, and the skirt is of black crepe. For afternoon, we saw a ginger-brown rough crepe with a captivating Queen Anne standing collar, yoke, and full sleeves of brown Alecon lace. And we are very fond of that black tailored shirtwaist dress of crepe shot with cellophane. It has cut steel buttons and four pockets. If you're considering your budget, you'll love the line of frocks priced at $7.95. New fall fabrics and styles that are different. Regular sizes, Junior Miss sizes (11-15), and large sizes (40-52).

* * *

FOR a grand Sunday-night lunch, we suggest that you go to Hoyler's Tea Room tonight between 5 and 7:30, and enjoy one of their 25c specials.

NO modern bathroom is complete without a recessed medicine cabinet like the ones we saw at Moersch & Degnan's. The spacious white-enamelled interior of the cabinet is equipped with adjustable glass shelves, and the modern plate mirrored doors (in plain, mitered, or Venetian style) are edged with chromium bands. Moersch & Degnan's have such a large selection, and the prices are so attractive that we just know you'll want one when you see them.

IT WILL soon be time for winter sports, so equip yourself with a pair of those grand boots from Manning and Sullivan's. In brown or beige elk, moccasin style, with the new 8 inch top. Women's sizes 4-8, $3.95. Misses sizes 12-3, $3.45.

ADVICE to a perplexed young man. If you're worried about what to give 'her' for Xmas, drop in to Blomstrom & Petersen, Inc., and see the display of lovely watches . . . Gruen, Bulova, and Hamilton. Blomstrom & Petersen's have arranged a convenient lay-away plan that enables you to pick out a watch now, and make a small deposit on it each week. When Xmas comes, you won't have to join the mad rush of late shoppers, and we guarantee that she'll be delighted with a gift from Blomstrom & Petersen, Inc.

BRISK days, keen appetites, and a demand for zestful new dishes, so here's a way to dress up an old favorite . . . sweet potatoes. 6 small sweet potatoes, one-third as much pineapple as potato, one-third cup of honey, ¼ cup water. Boil potatoes with skins on. When cool, peel and cut them in pieces ¼ inch thick. Mix honey and hot water. Just cover bottom of baking dish with mixture, add a layer of sweet potatoes with sliced pineapple. Pour remaining honey mixture over them and bake for ten minutes in the oven. Here's a new taste thrill that will put over your Sunday night supper with a Bang! Economical, too, because right now, tender, tasty sweet potatoes are available at all groceries.

YOUR health and comfort throughout the winter months will depend upon the humidity of your home, office, or shop, so see the 'Health-Aire' humidifiers at Moersch & Degnan's. Made of attractive metal, with an asbestos wick they are easy to fill, and will slide in to any size radiator. Priced at only $1.50 at Moersch & Degnan's.

Library Opens Carnegie Centennial Observance Monday

Poster Exhibit To Be Followed by Gift Portrait

The Escanaba Carnegie public library will open its observance of the birthday centennial of Andrew Carneigie, which will be fittingly celebrated in the United States and abroad on November 25, on Monday, with an attractive display of beautiful posters presenting some of the epigrammatic statements of the great philanthropist.

The seven posters, beautifully illustrated, which were published by the Carnegie Corporation of New York for display in libraries throughout the country in connection with the centennial observance, will be on exhibition for interested visitors until after the anniversary.

In addition to the posters, the library will receive a reproduction of a portrait of Andrew Carnegie, framd, a gift which is being presented all Carnegie libraries, as another mark of the centennial. Announcement concerning the portrait and arrangements for its exhibition, will be made shortly after it is received here.

Although Carnegie is known to the world as an industrialist and benefactor, he found time to do much writing. Some of his magazine articles published in the last century attracted wide attention, particularly those in which he explained his philosophy of the trusteeship of wealth. He wrote a number of books, among them being "The Gospel of Wealth," "An American Four-in-Hand in Britain," "The Empire of Business," "Round the World," "Triumphant Democracy," "James Watt," "Problems of To-day—Wealth, Labor, Socialism" and his "Autobiography."

Reflect Philosophy

Carnegie possessed a faculty for pithy statements, many of which crept into his writings. At the request of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, Burton J. Hendrick, author of "The Life of Andrew Carnegie," selected from Carnegie's works the quotations published in the poster dispalys. They reflect something of the philosophy which inspired Carnegie's numerous benefactions and emphasize his belief that popular education is the foundation for a stable, progressive civilization.

The quotations contained in the poster series follow:

"This, then, is held to be the duty of the man of wealth: To set an example of modest, unostentatious living, shunning display or extravagance; to provide moderately for the legitimate wants of those dependent upon him; and, after doing so, to consider all surplus revenues which come to him simply as trust funds, which he is called upon to administer, and strictly bound as a matter of duty to administer in the manner which in his judgment, is best calculated to produce the most beneficial results for the community."

"Surely no civilized community in our day can resist the conclusion that the killing of man by man, as a means of settling international disputes, is the foulest blot upon human society, the greatest curse of human life, and that as long as men continue thus to kill one another, they have slight claim to rank as civilized."

Education Basis

"Upon no foundation but that of popular education can men erect the structure of an enduring civiilization. This is the basis of all stability, and underlies all progress. Without it, the state architect builds in vain."

"The most imperative duty of the state is the universal education of the masses. No money which can be usefully spent for this indispensable end should be denied. Public sentiment should, on the contrary, approve the doctrine that the more that can be judiciously spent, the better for the country. There is no insurance of nations so cheap as the enlightenment of the people."

"I choose free libraries as the best agencies for improving the masses of the people, because they give nothing for nothing. They only help those who help themselves. They never pauperize. They reach the aspiring, and open to these the chief treasures of the world—those stored up in books. A taste for reading drives out lower tastes . . . I prefer the free public library to most if not any other agencies for the happiness and improvement of a community."

"I am not so much concerned about the submerged tenth as I am about the swimming tenth."

The best fields for philanthrophy recommended by Andrew Carnegie:

1. A university.
2. A free public library, provided the community will accept and maintain it.
3. Hospitals, medical colleges, laboratories, and other institutions connected with the alleviation of human suffering, especially with the prevention rather than the cure of human ills.
4. Public parks, provided the community undertakes to maintain, beautify and preserve them inviolate.
5. A hall suitable for meetings and concerts, provided a city will maintain and use it.
6. Swimming-baths, provided a municipality undertakes their management.
7. Churches, provided the support of the churches is upon their own people.

General Observance

The Andrew Carnegie centenary will be celebrated by the different Carnegie trusts in the United States and in Great Britain and the British dominions and colonies, and by public libraries in the different parts of the world. Out of the $350,000,000 he gave away, Carnegie devoted more than $60,000,000 to library construction work. He built 2,811 libraries. These, with the 8,182 church organs made possible by his contributions, are usually regarded as the more personal of his many benefactions.

Carnegie's memory will be honored on November 25 in his native city of Dunfermline, Scotland, from which he emigrated with his family to the United States in 1848. Other ceremonies will be held in New York, Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C., while special programs and exhibits will be arranged by many Carnegie libraries.

The New York program will consist of a special choral-orchestral performance on November 25 in Carnegie Hall, which Carnegie built for the cultural advancement of New York City; a formal assembly at the New York Academy of Medicine on the evening of November 26, honoring Carnegie for his many benefactions in different fields for the advancement of mankind, and a dinner on the evening of November 27 attended by those associated with Andrew Carnegie or engaged in carrying out his benefactions.

Carnegie Portrait Presented to Libraries for Centenary

ANDREW CARNEGIE

As a part of the Andrew Carnegie centennial celebration, the Carnegie Corporation of New York is presenting to all Carnegie libraries in the United States and the British Dominions and Colonies, a reproduction of a portrait of Andrew Carnegie by Luis Mora, framed for permanent display. The above is a picture of the Mora portrait.

Between 1881, when he built his first library in Dunfermline, Scotland, and 1917, when his library gifts ceased, Carnegie donated 2,811 public libraries in the English speaking world. Of these 1,946 were built in the United States. Carnegie was born in Dunfermline, November 25, 1835. The Carnegie centennial celebration will be held in the United States November 25, 26 and 27.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper are united once more in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "O'Shaughnessey's Boy," coming today to the Delft theatre. Their new picture is described as a dramatic, human interest story of father love told against a background of universal appeal—the circus with all its pathos, humor and spectacle, abundantly punctuated with sure-fire animal thrills.

The picture was directed by Richard Boleslawski, whose star is the fastest rising in Hollywood, with such recent hits to his credit as "Les Miserables" and "Clive of India."

Here is the picture Beery-Cooper fans have been waiting for ever since "The Champ," one of the most successful pictures of all times. It is their picture from the opening shot until the final fadeout.

Again the spirit and essence of "The Champ" have been captured from a different, novel angle, with an appealing, heart-throbbing twist—a father's regeneration through the love of his son—the son, realizing the sacrifices of his father, in turn sacrificing himself, as the picture reaches a triumphant, smashing climax.

From the standpoint of circus spectacle, "O'Shaughnessey's Boy" has never been equalled on the screen. A complete circus was erected at M-G-M—menagerie tent with elephants, tigers, lions, monkeys, camels, water buffalo, llamas, and many other animals; Big Top and Side Show.

There is a circus parade and many intimate shots of the circus on the road, the "privilege car," and the thrills of circus life.

Reception Will Be Held Monday at M. E. Church

Members and friends of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city will hold a reception for Rev. Ross W. Stoakes and his family and the new superintendent of the Marquette district, Rev. J. A. Yeoman, on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The reception marks the beginning of the third year of Rev. Mr. Stoakes as pastor of the local church. The two years that have just come to a close have been two very successful years in the church's growth and pastor and people are very happily working together for further advancement along lines well defined and agreed upon by both. The whole church looks forward to the coming fall and winter months in expectation for the accomplishment of continued gains in membership as well as the development and perfection of various organizations that not only take in the membership but a large number of the people of the community.

Rev. Mr. Stoakes, in commenting on his pastorate here, stated yesterday that he has been happy in working with the Escanaba church and that any pastor should be successful with an intelligent and loyal official board and a genuine people, such as makes up the membership in the church here. He further stated that much has been added to the happiness of the entire Stoakes household by the manner in which the people of the community have opened their hearts to the entire family. Not a little contribution to the contentment, that semed to settle upon the parsonage home from the beginning, is the fact that the entire Stoakes family is in love with the north country and its people, he said.

Rev. J. A. Yeoman, superintendent of the Marquette district, came as a successor to Dr. Joseph Dutton and took official charge of the district last June. Dr. Yeoman is already making an impression with his energetic ministry of supervision. His personality carries him far in leadership as the advanced work in the district indicates. Dr. Yeoman's visit to the Escanaba church on Monday evening will be his first visit since coming in the district and the ocal church is taking delight in officially receiving its new superintendent, with Mrs. Yeoman, at the same time that it expresses its pleasure at the return of Dr. Stoakes and his family to a pastorate for another year. There is no doubt that most of the members and friends will be present. Officially, Dr. Yeoman will hold his first quarterly conference at the close of the reception.

The committee on preparation appointed at the last official board meeting consists of R. P. Bowers, Maurice Strahl and W. J. Anthony, on program, while Mrs. James Ferguson heads her own committee on decorations and arrangements. Emery Snyder will be chairman of the program.

"guys have been broke and sent back to pounding the pavement for getting tough with me. Don't you forget it, flatfoot."

Hagan returned his glare.

"I've pounded pavements before and I can do it again," he said, "When you get through explaining about these bonds, go ahead and have me busted. Only don't forget . . . these federal raps are awful tough to beat."

Boyd looked at him with thin-lipped fury; then the utter truth of the final remark sank home, and he looked furtively at Larry Glenn again.

"You've made a mistake somewhere, mister," he said placatingly. "Honest, I never had nothing to do with them bonds. So help me—"

He raised one hand dramatically, as if to take a solemn oath Larry cut him short.

"Nuts," he said brutally. "The books say you did and the books can send you down to Atlanta."

Boyd gaped at him, his hand still raised.

"Atlanta?" he repeated.

"Sure," said Hagan maliciously. "You know, Sonny—that place they got down there with the big walls around it?"

Boyd seemed not to hear him. He kept his eyes on Larry's.

"It's like this," said Larry. "Those bonds came out of the National Bank of Neola. Red Jackson's gang held up that bank seven weeks ago and made it for $40,000 in cash and securities. Robbing a national bank is a federal offense. And so, in case you'd forgotten, is handling the proceeds of such a robbery."

He let this sink in. Then he said:

"I'm not interested in you. I'm not especially interested in putting you in Atlanta. In fact, I'm so little interested in it that you can talk me out of it, if you want to."

Sonny Boyd gaped again; then he thought he understood, and he smirked knowingly, and turned suggestively toward the safe behind his desk.

"So?" he said softly, rubbing his hands. "Well, maybe I can talk in a way you'd like, Mr. Government Man."

* * *

Larry got the implication, and brought one fist down on the desk with a suddenness that made the little man jump. He looked at Larry with apprehensive eyes; and Larry, checking the anger that was about to explode in hot words, smiled grimly.

"Not that way," he said, with ominous softness, "not that way, Mr. Boyd. You're old enough to be dry behind the ears by this time, and you ought to know you can't square afederal rap that way."

"How, then?" asked Boyd.

"You can tell me where you got them, and why," said Larry.

He leaned back and crossed his legs comfortably. Then he added:

"Of course, if you don't want to. I'm perfectly willing to take you back down town with me and lock you up."

Hagan, who was enjoying himself immensely, chuckled.

"And don't tell him that somebody just left 'em in your car," he said.

Two years ago, Sonny Boyd had been arrested by an incautious patrolman who had found him with a machine gun concealed in the rear of his car. It had been Sonny's defense, on that occasion, that someone—who, he knew not—had willfully left it there to make things look bad for him; and such was the strength of his influence that this lame story was accepted—officially, at any rate—and he had gone scot free.

He did not bother to reply to the jibe now. Instead he sat with his eyes fixed on Larry Glenn's face, thinking fast but fruitlessly.

"Well, how about it?" said Larry after a long wait. Boyd moistened his lips again.

"Listen, mister," he said, "I do a lot of business here. I got a lot of different deals on, at different times. I bought 'em from somebody, probably. I don't remember. I buy a lot of things. How'd I know they were hot? Why"—he smiled nervously—"I might have bought 'em from most anybody."

Larry got to his feet.

"Do you wear a hat?" he asked pleasantly. Boyd looked blank. "If you do, get it," said Larry. "You're going down town with me right now."

"You can't do that," said Boyd shrilly. "I got to see my lawyer. You can't run me in like this. I'll—"

Hagan, still enjoying things leaned forward toward him with a grin.

"Remember, Sonny, it's like I said," he said. "These federal raps are hard to beat."

* * *

Sonny Boyd continued to protest. "You got no warrant," he cried.

Larry stood with his hands on his hips, looking at him amusedly.

"Oh, you want me to get a warrant?" he asked. "All right, Mr. Boyd. I'll go get one right now. Only listen: if I get one I'll serve it on you and, if I serve it, it'll stay served. It'll be too late to talk me out of anything then. You'll go down to Atlanta just as sure as God made apples that are little, green, and occasionally just a wee bite sour."

Boyd's protests stopped abruptly.

"What do you want, mister?" he asked at last. Larry put a hand on his arm.

"Come on down town with me," he said. "We'll have a little talk in my office. If you tell me what I want to know—and tell it straight—you can stay out of the pen. When we get through talking you can come back out here Otherwise—"

Boyd reached for his hat.

"You win, I guess," he said.

They walked out of the building, got in Larry's car, and went down to the federal building. Then they went up to Larry's office; and there the whole scene was repeated.

An hour passed. Boyd grew haggard, his lank hair drooped down over his pale forehead, he twisted his hands nervously. And at last, his defenses beaten down, he surrendered.

"If I tell you," he said desperately, "you'll let me go?"

Larry nodded.

Boyd's tongue darted out to wet his lips. He looked about him wildly, as if to make sure that he would not be overheard by anyone but Larry and Hagan Then, looking imploringly at Larry, he said:

"All right, then. I bought 'em I paid $12,600 for 'em. I bought 'em—"

His voice trailed off reluctantly.

"Go on," said Larry relentlessly.

"I got 'em—from Dan Montague!"

Constitution Talk Is Given By J. J. Herbert

Never before have the people of this country been so constitution minded as today declared Atty. J. J. Herbert, in speaking on that basic American document before the last meeting of the Lions club. This renewed interest in the basic document of the United States government has disclosed a woeful lack of knowledge and understanding of the constitution.

The fact that we are undergoing a considerable change in thought in many lines, especially political and economic has led, he said, to declarations in many quarters that our constitution is out of date and in need of revision. He termed the constitution the rudder of our ship of state and said that it has already undergone considerable change and continues to be changed.

Though a realtively young instrument, our constitution written some 150 years ago, was declared by the speaker to be no more outmoded than the Bible. The constitution itself provides the means for any needed changes.

He made it clear that direct attack on the constitution is not endangering that statement of principles. The danger is from those who under the guise of good Americans try subverting or nullifying the fundamental principles of the constitution.

Explaining that document he said that it contained three simple fundamental principles which were new to political thought and never before embodied in such an instrument. Until it was written those guarantees of individual liberty contained in that portion of the constitution known as the "bill of rights" had never been written law. One of the greatest advances that this instrument made was not only the guaranteeing of these liberties but the providing of a way to enforce them.

He declared that when the government becomes greater than the individual, the individual becomes a slave to the government and that according to the thought back of the constitution, which is an idea peculiarly American.

A second peculiarity of the constitution, he said, was the theory of dual sovereignty which is foreign to all other governments. At the time of the formation of the federal government and ever since the people have felt that there are matters and affairs which must be controlled by local governments rather than bureaus in Washington. The training of public officials upon which the safety of the country rests is best gained in these local governments.

The third peculiarity of the American constitution is that those powers which were given to the federal government were apportioned. Each of the three branches of the federal government has its own duties and powers defined. The congress makes the laws, the president and the rest of the executive department enforcing the laws made by congress and the judicial department, the courts, has the duty of determining whether the laws passed by congress are constitutional.

In concluding, he said that he felt that if the constitution is in need of changing the way to make the changes was through the way provided in that document itself. We have already made 21 amendments and they have not changed the basic principles of the constitution.

He said that the constitution is the poor man's protection against the rich and powerful and the rich man's protection against the mob. It keeps the group in power from destroying the liberty of the minorities.

Drunk Driver Takes Jail Sentence Here

He entered a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, when arraigned before Justice W. G. Stephens.

Ellsworth was given the alternative of paying a fine of $50 and costs of $5, but chose the jail term. His operator's license was revoked for a period of one year.

His companion on his drunken ride was William Champan, who also pleaded guilty, to a drunk charge and chose a ten day jail term rather than pay a fine and costs of $10.

DROP SEEN IN TUBER FIGURES

Expect Smaller Potato Crop Than Harvest in Last Year

"The production of potatoes for the United States in the main producing areas as of October 1, 1935 is 365,995,000 bushels as compared to the September 1 forecast of 372,677,000 bushels and the final figure for 1934 of 385,287,000 bushels," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent.

The states in which the decreases are shown in the October 1 forecast are: New York, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Virginia, Montana and Idaho. Those showing a gain are: Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Dakota, Colorado, Utah, Washington, Oregon and California. The following states remain the same: Maine, Minnesota, Kansas, Missouri, Maryland, North Carolina, Wyoming and New Jersey.

It is partaicularly difficult for growers this fall to decide whether to dispose of their crop now, or hold until later, because of the proposed potato control program on which there is as yet no definite information as to what will be done. A number of plans were proposed at the recent conference of growers from the main producing states in Washington recently.

Should some definite market control program be put into effect it will no doubt have an influence on prices. Until something definite, however, is done, the grower who has a fair crop can only wait for developments. Growers in Schoolcraft county will be advised just as soon as any definite program is put into effect, together with details as to how it will be operated by the extension office.

BOWLING NOTES

The Elks bowling league started off with a bang the first of the week, and the cannonading could be heard each evening. Sixty members participated and the interest displayed presages the biggest and best bowling season in the history of the league. Dr. Southard, Dr. Shaw and Casey Lundstrom, three veterans from bygone days, made their bow again on the runways, while Raiche, Guidebeck, Hahne, DeGraaf, Powers and Matt Kasun made their first appearances.

Most of the trundlers found the going rather tough and poor averages were the result. A few sore arms were reported, but otherwise no heavy casualties were suffered. Jack Kelly made an auspicious start with an average of 196 with a high game of 225. Heinie Weber showed a flash of last year's form with his average of 179. Doc Shaw gave the boys the surprise of the week with his game of 170.

Advance in Stock Market Led by Industrials

PRICES REACH YEAR'S PEAK

Recovery Is Ascribed to Brighter Outlook for Peace

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Led by the industrials, the stock market struck out to a new high for the year today. Motors, motor accessories and farm equipments and others rose 1 to 4 or more points.

Brokers said the rise reflected a more hopeful Wall Street view of the outlook for peace.

Aided also by a handful of favorable earnings reports, equities lost no time in striding firmly ahead at the opening. Although the rails and utilities were laggards, the sharp prod given to recent speculative favorites hoisted the Associated Press average of 30 industrials 1.3 to 71, a new high since 1931.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks likewise closed at a new 1935 high of 51.2, up .9 of a point.

Motor Prices Up

Motors which bumped through to new peaks for the year with net gains ranging from fractions to 3 points or so included Auburn at 44½, Chrysler at 83 5-8, General Motors at 50 and Packard at 6 3-8.

Automobile equipments kept pace and likewise ran uphill to new highs for good gains. These issues included Briggs at 52, Electric Auto-Lite at 35 5-8, and Motor Products at 50½.

Case, normally a flighty stock owing to the small floating supply, soared 6¾ to close at a new high of 93¾. Deere likewise ran to a new top, finishing at 50 5-8. International Harvester advanced 1 3-8 to 59 3-8, although it did not reach its recent high.

Western Union at 62¼ was up 3 5-8.

Gains of 1 to 2 or more points in a widely scattered group of industrials indicated, brokers said that the continued improvement in the tone of general business news was providing encouragement.

Copper Shares Down

Among these issues were U. S. Steel, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, Greyhound, Schenley and Sears Roebuck.

A few copper stocks eased fractionally under selling attributed to speculators who had previously bought on the war outlook for higher consumption of the red metal. Anaconda, Calumet & Hecla, Cerro De Pasco and Phelps Dodge were among the fractional losers.

In the foreign exchange market the pound sterling was 1 3-8 cents higher at $4.92. The French franc was .00 1-8 of a cent higher at 6.59 1-8 cents. The Italian lira was off .01 of a cent at 8.12½ cents.

ITALIAN BONDS RISE SHARPLY

BY G. A. PHILLIPS
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—A sharp rise in Italian government and corporate issues was the bond market's response to the favorable turn in the African war news today.

U. S. governments averaged better than 1-8 of a point higher, and while there was a certain amount of irregularity in domestic corporation bonds, there were many firm spots and the main trend was upward.

Italian government 7s were in heavy demand and closed 6 7-8 points higher at 49½; Milan 6½s were 7 points higher at 47; Rome 6½s advanced 5 7-8 at 49½ and public utility 7s improved 5 at 47.

Recovery among U. S. government issues more than offset declines of Friday.

Domestic corporation bonds had both soft and firm spots. Murray Body 6½s provided the fireworks with a run up of 7½ points to a new high for a year or longer at 190.

Other interesting movers included International Telephone 4½s, up 1½ at 66; International Hydro-Electric 6s, up 1 5-8 at 42½, and Studebaker 6s, up 2½ at 72. Three separate issues of Missouri-Kansas-Texas bonds got up 1½ to 2½ points.

Lower prices were taken for Columbia Gas 5s, Laclede Gas 5½s, Illinois Steel debenture 4½s and Warner Bros. 6s.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 19—With poise only recovered in part after a mad scramble to sell and almost 4 cents break, wheat was yet staggering in final dealings today.

As a result of sudden development of hopes of peace in Europe, if not in Africa, every future delivery of wheat in Chicago fell to below $1.00 a bushel before any rallying power became apparent. Weakness of wheat values persisted despite assertions exporters had purchased about 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, and American mills had bought wheat futures in Chicago today.

Wheat closed nervous, 1¼ to 1 3-4 under yesterday's finish, December 1.00 7-8 to 1.01, corn unchanged to 5-8 down, December 59 to 59 1-8, oats ¼ to 3-8 off, and provisions varying from 7 cents setback to a rise of 10 cents.

Corn, rye and oats sympathized with wheat, but acquired relative steadiness from reports that central Illinois corn had suffered serious damage by frosts. The reports said farmers were purchasing lightweight cattle to feed poor corn to before it rotted. On the other hand, favorable weather prevailed over most of the corn belt.

Provisions eased with grains.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, Oct. 19—Cattle 1,500, calves 300; compared with Friday last week: Choice fed steers and yearlings scarce, fully steady; top 13.25 on heavy steers; 12.50 on long yearlings and 12.25 on light yearlings; light cattle got better action than comparable heavies; all lower grades 25 to 50 lower, many in-between grade heavy shortfed steers 50 to 75 lower; active stocker and feeder outlet continued to support low priced killers, but all lower grades killers sagged at week-end, a sharp break on heavy grass steers in east being a contributing factor as was a sluggish dressed trade made more unreliable by unseasonally warm weather; fed heifers 25 lower; lower grade grass heifers 50 off; beef cows 25 to 35 down, cutters 25 lower and plain or light sausage bulls fully 25 lower; vealers 1.00 to 1.50 down; better grade steers 11.50 to 12.50; lower grades, 7.50 to 10.50.

Sheep 5,000; for week ending Friday 16,200 directs; compared with Friday last week: Fat lambs around 25 to 40 lower, quality considered; aged sheep about steady; feeding lambs strong to higher; week's lamb top 9.85 paid for choice westerns at close; late bulk westerns, 9.35 to 9.75 compared with much plainer quality at 8.75 to 9.25 early; week's best natives, 9.50, bulk 9.00 to 9.35; medium to good yearlings, 6.50 to 7.25, choice scarce; top western ewes to killers, 4.60, highest since May; feeding lambs also at new high levels for season, best lightweights, 9.25, others 8.00 to 9.00 mostly; bulk solid-mouthed ewes, 4.50 to 4.75, few choice 5.00 and above; toppy twos and threes, 5.50.

Hogs 3,500, including 2,700 direct; mostly 10 to 15 lower than Friday's average; strictly choice 190 to 250 lbs., 10.40 and 10.45; quotable top 10.55; few sows, 9.00 to 9.25; shippers took 500; estimated holdover 1,000.

A total of 6,750,620,000 letters, parcels, telegrams, and wireless licenses was handled by the British postoffice in 1931.

Front View of Proposed New City Hall

What Gladstone's new city hall will look like from the front provided voters approve a bond issue for its construction at the polls on Monday. Floor plans were drawn by City Manager E. H. Waterhouse and the design, detailed plans and specifications were drawn by Arne Arntzen, Escanaba architect.

Taxpayers Vote Monday on Bond Issues for City Hall and Sewage Disposal Plant

Tomorrow taxpayers of the city of Gladstone will go to the polls to decide whether or not this city shall construct two public improvement projects, a new sewage treatment plant and a new city hall.

The specific proposals on which the voters will make decisions are whether to bond for the amounts necessary to provide materials for the projects.

The bond issue for the city hall is set at $22,000 while the issue for the sewage treatment plant is for $43,000. Each is being submitted separately to the persons qualified to vote on the propositions.

All four regular polling places in the city will be used in the voting. Taxpayers in the city or the husband or wife of a person owning property which is assessed for taxes may cast ballots.

Both projects as planned are modern in every detail.

The sewage plant was designed by Shoecraft, Drury and McNamee, sanitary engineering firm of Ann Arbor. The system of treatment to be used in the plant is the most efficient possible. If the plant is built it will be located at the site of the present tank.

Plans for the city hall were drawn by Arne Arntzen, Escanaba architect, and the architecture is similar to that of Gladstone's new post office. The building would be large enough to be ample in the event of local expansion. The fire station, police station and relief office as well as the main offices of the city hall force would be housed in the new building. It is proposed to locate the new hall at the northwest corner of Delta avenue and Eleventh street.

Show Need

The city commission has found that federal emergency relief ceases on Nov. 1. Funds to provide the necessities for the city's unemployed can then only be secured through the Public Works Administration which will be expended on approved public works, to which the city must contribute its share. If the city fails to approve these projects the whole program of relief for the unemployed will fall upon the city with whatever aid may be secured from the state, it was stated.

Speaking of the disposal pant, Dr. A. H. Miller, prominent local physician states:

"A modern sewage disposal plant is absolutely necessary in order that we may properly safeguard the health of our citizens. Two years ago there was an epidemic affecting approximately 900 cases of dysentery due wholly to polution of the waters of the bay. Our bathing beach, perhaps the finest on the Great Lakes, is a menace to the health of our people under present conditions. Sooner or later the State Health Department will condemn our present sewage disposal plant and the taxpayers will then have to foot a bill for a new plant entirely out of their own pockets."

UNDERPASS IS ASSURED HERE

State Highway Department Approves Local Project

Virtual assurance that a grade separation will be constructed here at the crossing of the Soo Line railroad with Highway M-35 in the Buckeye addition has been given by the state highway department, it was revealed yesterday by District Highway Engineer Ben Sparks, Escanaba.

Efforts were made here recently to have the local crossing included as one of the Soo Line projects when it was learned that $200,000 had been allocated to the Soo Line for grade separations. Communications from the state highway department indicated that projects which would consume the entire allotment had been already approved and that the local project could not be considered at this time.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner visited Delta county Friday and it was revealed that one of the group of projects had been cancelled and that consideration would be given the Gladstone underpass.

Construction of the grade separation, it is understood, is contingent on the city acquiring needed right-of-way and assuming responsibility for property damage. This matter will be considered by the city commission at their next meeting, Oct. 28.

It is estimated that the project will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Construction will eliminate a dangerous crossing that has cost two lives in recent years.

THEATRES

"Going Highbrow," a rollicking comedy, which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Rialto Theatre, today, is based on the hilarious play "Social Pirates," by Ralph Spence.

There is an all star comedy cast which includes Guy Kibbee, ZaSu Pitts, Edward Everett Horton, Ross Alexander, June Martell, Gordon Westcott and Judy Canova.

Spence's play was replete with amusing complications and rib-tickling dialogue, which is said to have been transferred to the screen with even more laughs.

The plot centers about a bucolic Kansas farmer who suddenly rises to riches through the stock market and his wife who immediately goes highbrow and wants to crash into New York's Four Hundred.

Second Feature

"Young Sinners," produced in New York in 1933, did more than afford Gotham an ultra-frank play about the younger "degeneration." It also brought into sharp focus the talents of Dorothy Appleby, seen in an important role in "School For Girls," now at the Rialto Theatre. After outgrowing a determination to become a Pavlowa, she turned her attention to the stage. A succession of plays brought her to the prominent attention of Hollywood, where she made her debut in "Square Crooks." Among her other films have been "I Give My Love," "Prize Fighter and The Lady" and Liberty's "Two Heads on a Pillow."

RUSSIANS LIKE 'CHUTE JUMPING

Many Towers Now Being Built in Parts of Soviet Union

Moscow (AP)—Parachute jumping has become such a popular sport in the Soviet Union that it has been found necessary to rush construction of 1,000 new towers from which leaps can be made.

The largest of these, 360 feet high, will be erected at Leningrad. It will have five platforms for jumps from different heights ranging upward from 80 feet.

Jumpers Are Safeguarded

If properly supervised, parachute jumping should be a safe form of diversion, the government maintains. Three air club officials were recently sent to trial for permitting jumps under dangerous conditions.

Jumping edges of the Leningrad tower will be made to resemble the interiors of airplanes so that the jumpers will have the sensation of leaping from machines. The tower will also serve as a mooring mast for dirigibles.

Tyros' Leaps Limited

Many of the new towers will be exclusively for the use of people making their first jumps. These towers will be only 80 feet high. The parachutes will be attached to the top of the tower by ropes on pulleys so that the jumper can be let down safely in case the 'chute folds.

The other towers will be about 200 feet in height and will be used for jumps with the ordinary parachute.

What it May Mean if Sewage Plant Bonds Not Authorized

What it may mean to the city of Gladstone if issuance of bonds for construction of a new sewage treatment plant are not authorized at the election Monday was pointed out in a statement issued yesterday by City Manager E. H. Waterhouse.

The bond issue proposed is for $43,000 in general obligations for the purpose of paying part of the cost of a $77,000 sewage plant. The balance of the cost is to be paid by the federal government under PWA regulations. Under present regulations regarding public works projects work must be commenced before January 1, 1936, if the city is to receive the federal grant of $35,000.

The statement follows:

"The city is to vote Monday on the issuance of $43,000 in general obligation bonds for the purpose of paying part of the cost of a $77,000 sewage treatment plant. The balance of the cost is to be paid by the federal government under PWA regulations. Under these regulations this work must be commenced before January 1 if the city is to receive the federal grant of $35,000.

"Both the State Board of Health and the Stream Control Commission have strongly intimated that in the event of the failure of the city to qualify for this grant and proceed with the plant this winter they will institute the necessary proceedings within a year to force the city to replace the present tank with a treatment plant large enough to meet their approval.

Wou'd Pay All

"It would then become necessary for the city to furnish the entire cost of the plant, both the PWA and WPA contributions not being available after this year.

"By omitting the pumping plant for sewage in the Buckeye addition and designing the plant for only the present volume of sewage, without provision for any future expansion, the cost might be cut to around $65,000. This amount the city would have to raise by an issue of self-liquidating bonds, payable from a tax or charge against each user of the sewer in proportion to his use of the sewer.

"In other cities where such a tax has been necessary, it has been raised by adding a flat charge payable every three months and based on the number of water outlets such as toilets, laundry tubs and sinks which empty into the sewers. In the ordinances providing for this charge there is a provision that if the sewer tax is not paid, the water is discontinued. Should Gladstone be forced to issue revenue bonds for a plant—which can be done without a vote of the people—the quarterly cost to each user would be approximately one-half of the present water bill. For example, the present minimum user of water would then pay $2 per quarter for water and $1 per quarter in addition for the use of the sewer, a total of $3, with a provision that the water would be shut off if the bill was not paid within thirty days. Larger users of water would pay proportionately larger sewer tax.

"As the water charge is a lien against the premises a tenant would be forced to pay a higher rent in order to absorb the sewer tax and as in many cases this is impossible at present, the owner of rented premises would have the additional payment to make.

"Contrast the above situation with the situation if the bond issues are passed. With a modern treatment plant and a city hall which would be a credit to the city, the property owner, under the tax limitation now in the city charter, could only be obliged to pay 55 cents more per $1,000 of assessed valuation (or 83 cents on the average house in the city), and this would be payable once a year, at a time when employment and income was at its peak.

"It has recently been argued that a city should not undermine its moral strength by accepting a federal "dole" in the form of a grant for construction of these needed buildings. Such an argument loses sight of the fact that a certain definite amount of federal money has been set aside to be spent on this type of work in the state of Michigan. If none of this money is spent in wages in the city of Gladstone it will be spent in other parts of the state. Regardless of where the money is spent, each resident of Gladstone will, directly or indirectly, pay his or her share of the federal taxes imposed to raise this money. Would it not be better to see that the workers of Gladstone received their share of the money which is being spent than to have it go to other communities so that Gladstone received no benefit from the payments which must in any event be made by its citizens?"

City Manager E. H. Waterhouse left last night for Knoxville, Tenn., where he will attend a national convention of city managers.

One of the features of the gathering will be a discussion by Washngton officials of what is to follow the PWA and WPA as far as municipalities are concerned.

Another feature of the trip will be a side jaunt to Norris Dam, huge TVA power project where they will hear the chief of the TVA and get ideas on power development which may prove of value.

F. R. Buechner, formerly city manager of Gladstone, now at Piqua, Ohio, in a similar capacity, will be chairman of one of the meetings.

Jordan College Beats Houghton Tech, 10 to 7

MANY WITNESS TOUGH BATTLE

Ekdahl's Place Kick Late in Game Margin of Victory

A perfect placement by Ekdahl, former Manistique star, late in the fourth quarter broke up a bitterly fought battle and gave Leo Brunelle's Jordan college eleven a 10-7 victory over Michigan Tech at the Escanaba Athletic Field here yesterday afternoon.

Although the Menominee college eleven outplayed the Tech eleven through most of the battle, gallant goal line stands by the Noblet coached machine several times stopped what looked like Jordan touchdown marches. Balked a third time after they had driven deep into Tech territory, Ekdahl, sparkplug of the Jordan attack, stepped back and sent one twirling between the uprights from the 18 yard line and broke the 7-7 deadlock.

Jordan scored early in the first period when they put on a concerted drive. Ekdahl, Guzzanato and Malmsted doing the toting. Malmsted drove over center for the touchdown after Eckdahl had lugged it ten yards to within a few feet of the goal. Ekdahl's placement with Guzzanato holding the ball was good and Jordan led, 7 to 0. Then the Jordan attack bogged down.

A disqualification penalty of 22 yards, half the distance to the goal, on Jordan gave Tech their opportunity in the third quarter. Guzzanato fumbled on the first play, Tech recovering. Hurley was stopped and a pass dropped incomplete. Then Hurley dropped back and shot a pretty aerial to Karas, Escanaba youth, who went into the air to take the pass across he goal for a touchdown. Faking an attempt at placement for conversion, Hurley shot another pass to Karas for the extra point and the game was tied, 7-7.

With the opening of the final period Coach Brunelle sent back his regulars into the battle and Jordan launched a furious offensive that carried them into the shadows of the Tech goal posts three times.

The first march bogged down on the 12 yard line and on fourth down Eckdahl passed into the end zone the ball going to Tech. Tech punted and a pass took the ball from the 38 to Tech's 11 yard marker. Three running plays gained but 3 yards and Eckdahl again dropped back and shot a pass into the end zone which dropped incomplete. Tech was forced to punt and Jordan started another drive with Guzzanato and Ekdahl reeling off nice gains to carry the ball to Tech's 13. The Engineers put up another great goal line stand three plays netting only 4 yards. Ekdahl stepped back and with Guzzanato holding the ball booted one between the uprights for 3 points and victory.

Ekdahl was outstanding in the Jordan lineup playing a great game on offense and backing up the line in his usually capable manner. Hurley and Karas starred for the Engineers.

Statistics reveal that Jordan rolled up 12 first downs to Houghton's 7. Ekdahl punted 12 times for an average of 28 yards while Karas booted an equal number of times for an average of 33. Jordan attempted 8 forward passes completing 2 for a total of 37 yards while Tech attempted 25 passes completing 8 for a total of 51 yards. Jordan lost 72 yards by the penalty route to Tech's 25.

RESERVE LEADS ARMY TO WIN

Harvard Loses to Cadets By 13 to 0 Score; Meyer Stars

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Army called desperately for reinforcements today and up came a long-legged gangling kid steeped in military tradition, Charles (Monk) Meyer, from the Fort Sheridan, Ill., army post, to lead the way to two touchdowns and a 13 to 0 victory over a game but woefully inept Harvard team.

Where Oklahoma's Jim Craig, heralded as West Point's new triple threat star, failed, Meyer rollicked all over Michie stadium.

Called into action at the start of the second period, when Army was going exactly nowhere in stumbling company with the Crimson, Meyer, picked the Cadet huskies up by the nape of their necks and set them right on their way. He was the whole show in the second and third period touchdown drives that gave Army the first victory it ever had scored at home over Harvard.

Alma College Beats Kalamazoo By 6 to 0

Alma, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Alma college moved a step closer to the M. I. A. A. football championship today by scoring in the first minute of play to defeat Kalamazoo, 6 to 0. The Hornets were considered Alma's chief rival for the conference title.

The lone touchdown came after Robert Mack recovered a Kalamazoo fumble on the 42-yard line. After two smashes at the line Leroy Block, Alma quarterback, broke through the center of the line, got into the open and eluded the Kalamazoo safety man to score. The Scots attempted to buck for the point after touchdown but failed.

Wally Survilla gave the Alma supporters a chill in the third quarter. He broke loose and headed for what appeared to be the tieing touchdown but fumbled when tackled by Ben Ewer near the Alma goal line. W. Block recovered for the Scots and his brother punted out of danger.

Newberry Wins From St. Joseph, 18 to 0

Newberry, Oct. 19—The St. Joseph high school football team was defeated by the undefeated Newberry prepsters here today, 18 to 0, the DeCook men outplaying the Parochials nearly all the way.

Newberry scored twice in the first period. The first touchdown came after the Indians had slowly worked the ball near the St. Joseph goal on a series of line plays, Clare going over on a plunge.

Later in the period Smith started off tackle, made a pretty cut back and raced 50 yards for a touchdown when the Parochial secondary defense was drawn in.

Just before the end of the half St. Joseph made their lone scoring threat. Two passes, Vandeweile to Smith, and Vandeweile to Valind, advanced the ball from midfield to the three-yard line but the half ended with St. Joseph holding the ball, first down and goal to go.

In the third period the Indians started another long march and culminated it with a touchdown plunge by Larson.

Newberry missed all of their points after touchdowns.

St. Joseph played without the services of Williams and Lachapelle, two outstanding backs, who were laid up with injuries and illness.

Underdogs Wreak Havoc In College Grid Games Throughout The Nation

BY HERBERT W. BAKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The under-dogs bowled nothing but football "strikes" yesterday and left an already shell-shocked fandom gasping at the defeat of a half dozen prime favorites headed by the Rice Owls, Michigan State Spartans and Duke Blue Devils.

To Boston college and Georgia Tech go the credit for engineering the most startling upsets of the day. Michigan State, with a high-powered array that had steam-rolled all opposition, invaded Boston for what appeared to be a "warm-up" with Boston college, but the Eagles turned in an amazing performance to whip the hot favorites, 18-6. Georgia Tech, which ruined Duke's undefeated record two years ago, came through with another bang-up game to win, 6-0, in the most stunning of the south's series of form reversals.

Indiana Loses

Rice, defending southwest conference champion, fell before Southern Methodist's fourth-period onslaught, 10-0. Indiana's 7-0 setback at the hands of the University of Cincinnati, and Nebraska's scoreless draw with a Kansas State team which previously had lost to Fort Hays Teachers, likewise came as a shock to form players.

Meanwhile Yale, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California, Washington, Army and Dartmouth continued their unbeaten charge through the opposition.

A crowd of 60,000 saw Al Hessberg sprint 20 yards around end for a touchdown and Henry Gardner add the point that gave Yale a 7-6 victory over a battling Navy outfit at New Haven. Marty Peters field goal from the 25-yard line was the margin by which Notre Dame turned back Pitt's Panthers in a spectacular fray that had a crowd of 51,000 wildly excited at South Bend from start to finish.

Ohio State packed entirely too much power for Northwestern and the Buckeyes rang up their first Big Ten victory, 28-7. Minnesota, meanwhile, swept through Tulane for a 20-0 triumph and Purdue's Boilermakers trounced Chicago, 19-0.

N. C. Still Unbeaten

While virtually all the other southern leaders were getting upset, North Carolina took Dividson into camp, 14-0, to remain unbeaten and so did Georgia, victor over North Carolina State, 13-0. Alabama and Auburn posted spectacular triumphs, both of which could be classed as upsets. Alabama continued its erratic course, this time with an awesome 25-0 conquest of Tennessee. Auburn tripped up Kentucky in decisive fashion, 23-0.

In the east Army, led by Charles (Monk) Meyer, subdued Harvard, 13-0, while Dartmouth's backs ran wild against Brown, 41-0. Penn, coming back from two defeats, looked like the power it was supposed to be from the start in lacing Columbia, 34-0. Fordham, badly beaten by Purdue, likewise showed a reversal in form in taking a 13-7 decision from Vanderbilt's Commodores. Princeton scored 27 points in the final quarter to turn back Rutgers, 29-6; Temple outpointed Carnegie, 13-0, and Colgate routed Lafayette, 51-0. New York University turned in another brillant display of setback in its title hopes, playing a 13-13 draw with Manhattan.

Washington's 21-0 victory over Washington State and California's 6-0 verdict over Santa Clara marked developments in the far west. Denver defeated Utah State, 13-7, in the principal Rocky Mountain conference struggle.

PURDUE BEATS CHICAGO, 19-0

Boilermakers Turn on Blast to Chalk Up Decisive Margin

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP)—The lame and the halt, Cecil Isbell and John Drake, shook off their miseries long enough today to lead Purdue's Boilermakers to a 19-to-0 triumph over Chicago's brave little band.

Right up to game time Isbell, sensational sophomore halfback, and John Drake, the Boilermakers veteran fullback star, were not expected to get into the battle because of injuries. But, by the time the second period, during which Purdue scored two touchdowns, was finished, it would have been impossible to convince the battling Maroons that anything had ever been wrong with either of them.

Score on Passes

Drake, whose injured leg permitted him to play only a few minutes against Fordham last week, got limbered up on the second session and, operating behind a crisp charging line, battered over from less than two yards out for the first touchdown. The march started on the Purdue 10-yard line, and Drake, with occasional assistance from Tom McGannon and Tony Wright, did most of the ball carrying. Wayne Sandefur placekicked for the extra point.

With only a few minutes of the second frame left, Isbell who suffered a severe shoulder injury three weeks ago against Northwestern, also limbered up. He shot a 27-yard pass to Don Powell, sophomore end, then fired one to Fred Stalcup for 18 more. With the ball on the Maroon 15-yard wark, the Texas youngster started around his own right end, halted abruptly, and shot a near pass to McGannon, who had only to step over the goal line.

Isbell's attempt for the extra point was wide.

The final Purdue score developed out of a frantic Chicago passing attack in the final quarter. McGannon intercepted one of big Jay Berwanger's numerous heaves and ran it back 17 yards to Chicago's 40. Decker and McGannon ran the ball to the seven yard mark, and McGannon flipped a short shot over center to Powell in the end zone, for the score. Leon Dailey's successful try for the point was nullified by a Purdue holding penalty.

The triumph was Purdue's second straight in the Western conference championship struggle, and left it tied with Michigan for first place.

OHIO DEFEATS NORTHWESTERN

Bucs Hurdle First Obstacle in Big Ten Campaign

BY FRITZ HOWELL

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Columbus, O., Oct. 19. (AP)—Ohio State University hurdled the first obstacle today in the path its hopes will lead to the Western conference championship by upsetting a surprisingly rugged Northwestern eleven, 28 to 7.

The score fails to tell the story of the Northwestern efforts, for several times the Wildcats clawed their way into scoring territory only to be frustrated by a fumble, penalty or an unbreakable Buckeye line.

Uses 31 Players

Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio used 31 players, and he needed all of them to stave off the repeated threats of the invaders.

The Ohioans hopped into the lead early, scoring a pair of touchdowns in the first period on passes from tiny "Tippy" Dye to Dick Heekin and Frank Boucher, the starting halfbacks.

The third Ohio touchdown was a personal masterpiece manufactured by "Jumping Joe" Williams, sensational sophomore. He went into the game just before the first period ended, as Ohio took the ball on its own 30-yard line where a Wildcat punt went out of bounds.

Williams started his touchdown parade with a 23-yard jaunt around right end just as the period closed. On the next play he cut through tackle for five. Johnny Bettridge helped out with a jaunt to the 35, then Joe put the ball under his arm and went over right tackle for the 35 yards and the touchdown.

Purple Gets Chance

Northwestern got its first chance late in the second period. Heap, stellar halfback, took Boucher's punt on his 50 and romped right back to the 26, and then followed with a 24-yard toss to Kovatch on the two-yard line.

Ohio held for three downs under the shadow of the goal post, but on the fourth Heap took a lateral from Duvall and went over the left side of Ohio's line standing up for the score.

Throughout the third quarter the teams battled on even terms, neither being able to get deep into the other's territory.

Ohio's last marker came in the final period, the Bucks taking the ball on their own 32 and never relinquishing it until it was over the last white line.

Wasylik, third string quarterback, started the parade with a 20 yard sprint after being trapped attempting a pass. Boucher followed with 17 around left end. Antenucci plunged for eight, Williams contributed five and Pincura passed to Antenucci for the score.

The lineups:

| Northwestern | Pos. | Ohio State |

Score by periods:

Ohio State scoring: touchdowns, Heekin, Boucher, Williams (sub for Heekin), Antenucci. Points from goal after touchdown, Beltz (sub for Heekin) 2, Buscih (sub for Wendt) 2 (placekicks).

Northwestern scoring: touchdown, Heap (sub for Swisher). Point from goal after touchdown, Duvall.

Western Loses To Iowa Teachers, 21-14

Cedar Falls, Iowa, Oct. 19 (AP)—Western State Teachers college bowed to the Iowa State Teachers college today, 21 to 14, for the first loss in its athletic relations with the Iowa school.

The Hilltoppers, trailing 21 to 0 in the last half, threw a real scare into the Panthers when Pierce ran back a kickoff 95 yards for the first Michigan score and then, with only seven minutes to play, Neidlinger fell on a punt fumbled by Gnagy for a touchdown.

The heavy Hilltoppers were unable to get going against the lighter, faster Teachers college line and showed only a total gain from scrimmage of 44 yards.

The Panthers were led tto victory by Johnny Champlain, 145-pound substitute, who scored two touchdowns. The first came shortly after he had returned a Western State punt to the 13-yard line and the second when he broke loose over tackle for sixty yards, being run out of bounds on the eight. Four plays later in each case he scored. The final home score came on a pass, Kelly to Olin, good for 26 yards. Reynolds and Pierce were outstanding for Western State

YALE UPSETS NAVY BY 7 TO 6

Hessberg, Soph Star, Is Big Gun for Nifty Eli Aggregation

Yale Bowl, New Haven, Conn., Oct. 19 (AP)—Against a background of the most colorful pageantry and the biggest crowd so far this season along the eastern football front, Yale's smartly coached team capitalized its alert defense today to save a one-point lead and turn back the Navy, 7-6.

A crowd of 60,000, largest that has poured into the huge Eli bowl since 1931, saw Yale strike quickly in the first period, gain the upper hand in a closely-fought game and turn back all but one of the Navy's counter-thrusts, chiefly through the effectiveness of the Blue's anti-aircraft defense.

Fast-stepping Al Hessberg of Albany, a sophomore ball-carrier circled Navy's right end for the Eli touchdown as the climax of a 42-yard drive, involving only a half dozen plays, but the decisive extra point was booted by a substitute lineman, Henry Gardner, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill. Gardner, a specialist, was sent into the game just for this one play.

FATALLY INJURED

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 19 (AP)—Wheeler Braden, 28, Washington, D. C., automobile race driver, was injured fatally and Red Redmond of Atlanta, Ga., suffered a fractured collarbone when their racing cars collided this afternoon in an eastern championship A.A.A. event at the Spartanburg county fair.

ROCK DEFEATED BY STEPHENSON

Maki's Crew Presents Nifty Attack to Win by 27-0

Rock, Mich., Oct. 19—Scoring a touchdown in every period, a flashy, well-balanced Stephenson high school football team revenged a string of defeats handed them in recent years by Rock, defeating the Little Giants by a 27-0 score in a game played at the local athletic field this afternoon.

The Menominee boys had a fast charging line and a smooth working backfield and took advantage of the breaks. Two of Rock's key men were injured early in the first period and the lack of substitutes prevented the Little Giants from displaying much in an offensive way, although they did threaten several times. The loss of Captain Chenail, hard running back, was particularly disastrous to the Little Giants.

A drive down the field in the opening period, capped by Laundry's smash through the line gave the visitors their first score. In the second period, Rock, on a fourth down pass, had the toss intercepted on the five-yard line by Laundry who returned almost the distance of the field to the Rock seven-yard line from where Hammerberg went over for the touchdown. A line smash scored the extra point, making the score 13-0 at the half in favor of Stephenson.

The Steves scored early in the third period, when, with the wind at their backs, they marched down the field, Hammerberg going over for the score. A few minutes later, Rock punted from behind their own goal line. The ball was held back by the terrific wind and after going but ten yards, bounded back over the goal line where it was downed by a Rock player, giving Stephenson a safety.

Stephenson made another drive in the final period, Laundry making the touchdown, the final score being 27-0. It was the fourth victory of the year for Stephenson and the first defeat for Rock.

Officials of the game were: Referee, Gunderman, Escanaba; umpire, Geraldeau, Gladstone; headlinesman, Bartel, Escanaba.

Hope and Albion In Scoreless Battle

Albion, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Sterling defensive play which turned back numerous scoring threats featured a scoreless tie between Hope and Albion college elevens today.

In the second period Hope unleashed a passing attack which clicked for four first downs but the Albion defense stiffened inside the five-yard line and prevented a score. Albion's best chance came in the third quarter but a fourth down forward pass was incomplete. In the final period another Hope scoring threat was thwarted when Smith, Albion center, blocked an attempted placekick.

FOOTBALL CASUALTY

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—The only casualty in the Adrian college-Detroit tech game today was a 12-year-old spectator. With Adrian in possession of the ball, three players rolled out of bounds during a scrimmage, burying Kenneth Prange under the pile-up. The boy, who was watching the game from the sideline, suffered a double fracture of the right leg.

When Friends Drop In

You're never embarrassed by lack of food and refreshment . . . when you make a practice of keeping a case of SILVER CREAM beer in your home. For SILVER CREAM makes even the plainest foods taste delicious, and is a fitting companion for the most fancy foods.

And then beer is the one drink that is socially correct and is always accepted . . . and SILVER CREAM is of course, just the best beer that it is possible to make. The fact that SILVER CREAM beer and OLD CRAFT brew are the largest selling beers in Upper Michigan, proves this statement.

Escanaba Beats Soo, 33-9; Upbays Trim Redmen

SAULT SCORES FIRST MARKER

Eskymos Come from Behind to Win; Display Power

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 19 (AP)—With a crushing, smashing, driving attack which completely outclassed the Blue Devils of the Soo, the Eskymo football team rode roughshod here today, amassing a 33 to 9 triumph which thrilled a large crowd of football fans at the local field.

The Blue Devils had their greatest moment right at the start of the battle when Laws intercepted Heidenreich's pass on the second play of the game and sprinted 30 yards for a touchdown. Godin kicked goal and Soo took a 7 to 0 lead.

Escanaba received again and Heidenreich made 15 yards on a line play, added 12 more on the same formation, and then Olmsted broke loose for 34 yard and a touchdown, but Olmsted missed the point after touchdown and the Blue Devils still held a 7 to 6 lead.

With their running attack still functioning smoothly, the Eskymos started another offensive after received the ensuing kick-off. Embs raced 35 yards to the 39 yards stripe, Heidenreich picked an opening for eight yards, Olmsted carved out 18 more and then picked up another five to bring the ball near the goal line and Heidenreich plunged across for the score. The Escanaba captain also added the extra point on a line smash, making the score 13 to 7.

Automatic Safety

After an exchange of punts in the second quarter, Escanaba got the ball on their own eight yard line. Olmsted was smeared for a seven yard loss and then Heidenreich dropped back in the end zone to punt. He stepped across the end line for an automatic safety to add two points to the Soo total.

Later in the period Godin attempted a pass and Heidenreich came in fast to intercept the ball in mid field and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. Olmsted kicked the goal and the half ended shortly after with the score 20 to 9 in favor of the Eskymos.

The Eskymos scored once more in each of the last two periods. In the third quarter Heidenreich ran 36 yards to advance the ball to the Soo 15 yard line. Embs made seven yards and Heidenreich added four more for a first down on the four yard line. Anderson pushed it across on a quarterback sneak. Olmsted's kick for the goal was no good.

Just to show that their early period scoring was no fluke, the Eskymos made their final touchdown after a long and steady march through the Soo defense. Biting off small chunks consistently Embs, Heidenreich and Olmsted took turns lugging the oval to the Soo 3 yard stripe and Olmsted pushed in across for the score, Anderson making the extra point on a quarterback sneak.

The Eskymos made 16 first downs to seven for the Soo and advanced a total of 225 yards to about 75 for the Lock City team.

Fighting Irish Back On Victory Trail, Defeat Pittsburgh; Score, 9-6

BY PAUL MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 19 (AP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish have crossed their river Styx of football at last and the sun shines once more on the old golden dome.

After four weary years of fighting and trying, they made the crossing today when they came from behind to smite down the treacherous Panthers from Pittsburgh, by the breath taking margin of 9 to 6.

Peters Is Star

Twenty-three of the fighting Irish—and how they fought today—were heroes of Notre Dame's victory hour as campus and town went wild, but it was Martin Joseph Peters, the six foot three, 205 pound giant from Peoria, Ill., who was the toast of toasts. It was Peters, the same basketball star, who provided the precious three-point margin. With the game deadlocked at six-all and with but three minutes to play, big Marty dropped back on Pitts 25-yard stripe and booted a perfect placement to win one of the most gruelling gridiron duels in Notre Dame football history.

The Panthers, threatening and biting all the way to run their victory string to four straight over Notre Dame, had sent the Irish back on their heels as they piled in with their final threat and the outlook for victory was dark until it was decided to try for a place kick with Wally Fromhart holding the ball. Peters swung his trusty shoe and the ball sailed squarely through the uprights. The spectators were breathless until Fred Solari broke up the Panthers last desperate passing attack by intercepting a long throw by Hub Randour as the final shot sounded.

Pitt Scores First

Pitt scored its touchdown on a 37-yard march early in the second period with Leon Shedlosky, Bill Stapulus and Frank Patrick smashing the Irish line into bits and ripping the enemy ends ragged with spectacular runs. Patrick carried the ball over for the score on a two-yard smash through his left tackle. Wayne Millner, a Gibraltar on the defense all day for the South Benders, broke through to block Patricks' attempted place kick for the extra point.

Two kicks opened the road for Notre Dame's tying touchdown. After a 15-yard penalty for holdign had put the Irish back on their own eight Bill Shakespeare punted the ball 86 yards out of danger. Then a fateful, strange bounding kick stepped in. Arnold Greene got off a quick kick but the ball hit on the Pitt 40 yard line and bounced back to the 21, giving Notre Dame first down. Fred Carideo and Shakespeare supplied the other "breaks," hammering the Pitt line into submission, with Shakespeare going over from four yards through tackle for the tying score. Bill's try for the extra point was a dismal failure. So the battle raged on with spectacular runs and plays until a basketball player named Peters ended it.

STIQUE READY FOR ESCANABA

Blackhawks Will Oppose Legion Team Today; Starts at 2:30

Manistique—Manistique's American Legion team meets the Escanaba Blackhawks at the fairgrounds field at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in a match that is confidently expected to outdo anything in the independent sport line seen on a field here in years. The locals have a rapidly developing aggregation of players and the Blackhowks are known to be one of the classiest grid teams in the peninsula.

The Blackhawk goal has not been crossed by an opponent in the three games that the Delta county boys have played this year so a great deal of stubborn opposition to the Legion attack is to be looked forward to. A record crowd is anticipated for the encounter.

Signal drills during the week have gone a long way toward perfecting a smooth working attack which will allow application of the tremendous power of the local machine. All players have been reported in good shape and two new backfield men have joined the squad. The flood-lighted court house grounds have allowed Coach McNutt to stage night drills.

Ivan Schuster, 190 pound fullback, and Louie Longpree, 220 pound halfback, are the most recent additions to the Legion machine. Schuster is a former St. Norbert's player and Longpree is said to have been a backfield star at Arkansas Tech a few years ago.

Regulars who can be expected to see service are: Smits, quarter; Rogers, Rubick, Marks, Kruger and Dumond, backs; Cook, LaFreniere, Lanier, Mueller, Peterson and Rodman, guards; Burley, Bond and Carstensen, tackles, and Davenport and Peasley at the ends.

MEET AT 9:30

The Blackhawks will meet at Mike Greis' Tavern at 9:30 o'clock this morning and will leave for Manistique from there. All members of the team are requested to be there at that time.

Titans Are Beaten By Catholic U, 13-7

Detroit, Oct. 19 (AP)—A brilliant 50-yard forward-lateral pass, which climaxed a rousing, thrill-packed fourth period, gave Catholic university, of Washington, a 13-7 intersectional victory over the University of Detroit Titans here today. Fifteen thousand spectators saw the bitterly fought tilt.

The invading Cardinals, finding their own powerful line matched by the Detroit forward wall, took to the air for all their points, coming from behind to win in the final minutes. Detroit also had to take to the air, scoring early in the fourth period.

A 12-game schedule will take Texas Christian's football squad a total of 7.500 miles this season.

Jumps Into the Lead

Chalking up one touchdown against Kentucky, and four against Drake, Jumping Joe Williams, above, Ohio State sophomore halfback from Barberton, O., jumped into the lead of the Big Ten scoring column and gained the reputation of being a second Chick Harley. The youngster carried the ball eight times against Drake and picked up 87 yards. Against Kentucky he toted the leather 16 times, and averaged 11 yards a trip.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

To me, football is the best sport of them all . . . besides being a thrilling game to watch, and a healthy one too, and being a real game for any red blooded fellow to play, one of the best features of the game are the incidents that happen in almost every game which are interesting . . . there is nothing like a good, humorous incident in the middle of a gruelling, hard fought game to pep the boys up . . . many stories drift out and are just as interesting and humorous to non-participants.

One of the funniest stories I've heard in a long time happened in a game between the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears . . . Dutch Clark, Lions star back, started through the Bear line with the ball when big Swede Carlson, of the Bears went after him . . . Clark ran to one side of the field . . . with Carlson in hot pursuit . . . finding himself cornered, Clark reversed his field and went back . . . with Carlson in hot pursuit . . . once again the same thing happened . . . with Carlson in hot pursuit . . . finally the play got over near the sidelines when Carlson stopped dead . . . and yelled to the Detroit coach on the bench . . . "H——l, there's no use chasing him across the field again. He'll be back!!"

Another one is told about the pro game . . . it seems that Link Lyman, star lineman for the Bears, was doing a little rule breaking in one game . . . when the line play got close, Lyman would reach out with his hands when his team was on offense, and hold the opposing lineman, who was a comparative newcomer . . . offensive holding, of course, is illegal . . . the newcomer reported the foul play to the official several times but he never called it . . . finally, the official got tired of having the fellow complain to him so he went over to Lyman and warned him about his holding . . . said Lyman . . . "Say, I've been in this league for 12 years . . . don't you think I should have some privileges by this time?"

One of the best places to hear good football yarns is at the annual rules meetings . . . at one recently, once coach told of a game in which Grosse Point high school was playing . . . their play, especially blocking and tackling, had been terrible in the first half and the team was behind, 6-0, at the half . . . at intermission, the coach, instead of taking the boys to the dressing room, took them over to one side of the field and spent the entire fifteen minutes in a tough blocking and tackling practice . . . in the second half, the team went out and won, 40-6. . . Another coach at the rules meeting piped up with the announcement that he had seen the same trick pulled over at Quinnesec a few years ago.

Of course, not all good stories come from the gridiron . . . all other sports have their own humorous situations . . . Goose Goslin, the pride and joy in Detroit right now . . . because of his $20,000 single that won the world series . . . Goose is so named because of the gigantic promontory which protrudes from between his eyes . . . on other people it is a nose, on the Goose, it is a probocis . . . one day, when playing for the Washington Senators, Goslin woke up to find a Washington reporter had written about the game . . . "Goslin was hit on the nose by a fly ball . . . and they sent the ball to the hospital for an examination" . . . needless to say, the Goose never forgot that one.

GOPHERS WHIP TULANE EASILY

Minnesota Displays Lots of Power in Running Up 20-0 Victory

BY D. R. MACKENZIE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Minneapolis, Oct. 19 (AP)—Tulane's Green Wave was only a ripple on the football seas today as Minnesota's powerful dreadnaught sank the boys from Dixie under a score of 20 to 0.

Thirty-five thousand spectators witnessed the intersectional gridiron battle, in which only the generous use of second and third string reserves by Bernie Bierman prevented the score being greater than it was.

The victory proved a costly one for the Gophers, however, as Minnesota's captain and quarterback, Glenn Seidel, suffered a broken collar bone late in the game. Trainers said he would be out of play for the rest of the season.

Minnesota struck the invaders with surprising suddenness, sailing up and down for three touchdowns in the first half, and toyed with Ted Cox's eleven for the remainder of the game.

45 Yard Run for Score

Then, to show their class, the Gophers made a brilliant stand on the one-foot line in the last five minutes, repelling three thrusts at the line and knocking down a forward pass over the goal.

After Tulane punted on the first play of the tussle, Babe Levoir scampered around his left end for 28 yards for the Green Wave's 20-yard line, and in four smashes through the line Roscoe made it first down on the one. Beise went over on the next play and Levoir converted.

Later Wilkinson, Minnesota's big guard, blocked Captain Barney Mintz's punt, scooped up the ball and ran 45 yards for a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. Levoir again converted.

Lith Roscoe, Beise and Levoir cracking Tulane tackles for repeated gains, Tulane sent in seven fresh men in the second period, but the Gopher power was functioning at top speed. Roscoe carried the oval from the 12 to the five-yard line to set the stage for the most brilliant play of the game.

Three times the boys from Dixie held, but on the fourth Thompson, a substitute half, took the ball on a smash through tackle. Almost to the goal line, his interference blocked his way and four Tulane players hemmed him in.

Then, with a mighty leap that knocked both his own blockers and would-be tacklers to the ground, Thompson flew through the air to land over the goal. Levoir failed to kick the point.

State Cohorts Stunned Into Defeat By Boston College By 18-6 Score

Newton, Mass., Oct. 19 (AP)—Michigan State's march toward the nation's football throne room ended today in a stunning 19-to-6 defeat at the hands of a Boston college eleven that fought with the traditional ferocity of an underdog.

The Boston College Eagles, undaunted by a quick Spartan touchdown that seemed to confirm the most glowing advance notices, scored in the first, third and fourth periods while smothering Michigan State's highly rated running and passing attack.

The mid-western machine that had rolled relentlessly over Grinnell, Michigan and Kansas met its match in a big, fast-charging Boston line.

State Opens Scoring

Michigan State scored in the opening minutes of the game after acting Captain Sid Wagner recovered a Boston fumble on the easterners' 28-yard line. Agett, Wiseman and Edwards carried the ball to the four-yard mark. After three plays were smothered Agett passed to Zarza in the end zone for a touchdown. Wiseman failed to convert the point.

A penalty gave Boston college a chance to tie the count later in the period when officials ruled interference on a long pass from Guinea, substitute for Ferdenzi, to Dinatale, substitute for Flanerty, which gave the easterners the ball on Michigan State's 12. Driscoll, substitute for Ferdenzi, knifed through from the four-yard line to score. Driscoll's try for the extra point was wide.

Kurt Warmbein, star Michigan State halfback, who entered the game in place of Agett early in the second period, made two successive first downs to Boston's 32. A pass, Warmbein to Sebo, substitute for Edwards, carried the ball to the Eagles' 20, where the big Boston college forward wall held for downs. After an exchange of kicks Warmbein's long pass to Colina gained 22 yards to Boston college's 28. Dinatale, substitute for Flaherty in the easterners back field, ended the drive by intercepting Warmbein's next pass on Boston's 22 and kicking out of danger as the second period ended.

Agett Smothered

The easterners' line smothered Agett on his own 28 to give Boston college the ball on Michigan State's 28 in the third period. Flaherty picked up 17 yards in two plunges. Ferdenzi went to the three-yard line and then went off tackle for the Eagles' second touchdown.

A flurry of Spartan passes twice carried the ball deep into the easterners' territory late in the third period but they were smothered.

Michigan State was pushed back to its 15 in the fourth period on a bad pass from center. Keogh, substitute for Kissell, intercepted Agett's pass on the next play. Guinea, in two plays, carried the ball to Michigan State's two-yard line and Dinatale plunged over for a touchdown. Dinatale's try for point failed.

Dinatale's fine kicking for Boston college, averaging 44 yards a try, more than made up for Michigan State's 16-to-3 margin over Boston college in first downs. The Spartans gained 258 yards by rushing, while the Eagles netted a total of 139.

Wagner Stands Out

Despite the Eagles' continued bad breaks throughout the game the stalwart Boston college eleven completely quelled Spartan attempts to force the ball into scoring position. On several occasions it was Tony Dinatale, substitute quarterback, who punted Boston out of dangerous spots. Other times it was that crashing, fighting forward wall which stopped the State formations before the ball could be brought up to the scrimage line.

Wagner stod out in the line while Al Agett was Michigan State's best back of the day.

Coach Charlie Bachman had hoped to keep Warmbein and Colina on the bench because of minor injuries but he had to use every resource he had in an unsuccessful attempt to pull the game out of the fire in the second period.

State completed seven passes out of 20 attempts for a total of 83 yards. Boston college tried five and completed two for 30 yards. Three of the Spartan passes were intercepted. State lost 15 yards on penalties and Boston 65.

TIGERS DEFEAT RUTGERS, 29-6

Four Touchdowns Scored by Princeton in Last Quarter

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 19. (AP)—A final quarter rally which produced four touchdowns in double quick order enabled the Princeton football machine to defeat its oldest rival, Rutgers, by 29 to 6, today and thereby hold its place as one of the east's undefeated teams.

Just as in its earlier battle with Penn and Williams, the Tiger eleven was forced to come from behind to win. It scored on a safety in the first period but lost the lead when a pass from Moe Grossman to Cuno Bender brought a touchdown for the scarlet shortly after the start of the second half.

But in the last period Ken Sandbach of Maplewood, N. J., crossed the goal line.

Paul Pauk, Branford, Conn., senior, scored a few minutes later and Jack Irwin, Keokuk, Ia., junior who has not played since he was injured early last year, finished the rout. A dash man in track, he cut through the wilting Rutgers line almost at will and scored twice, going around end from ten yards out for the first, and ripping through center for the second.

Ken Sandbach converted three of the extra points to send Princeton's total for the closing period to 27. The final whistle prevented another touchdown as the Tiger was a yard from the goal line when the game ended.

Grand Haven, Oct. 19 (AP)—The powerful Muskegon Heights football team won its 24th consecutive game today, defeating Grand Haven, 27 to 0. The first score came in the first quarter when Dolinsek ran for a touchdown on an end-around play. The other three touchdowns were scored in the third period on runs of 27, 47 and 55 yards.

Memorial Coliseum, Los Angeles, Oct. 19 (AP)—After nineteen years of trying, Oregon State defeated the University of Southern California football team today, 13 to 7, in a thrilling encounter.

KEILMEN HAVE HARD BATTLE

Miller Runs 95 Yards to Score Touchdown; Final, 19-0

Marquette, Oct. 12—After desperately holding a powerful Gladstone team scoreless for the first half, Graveraet high school gridders suddenly wilted before the onslaught and went down to a 19-0 defeat at the hands of the Keilmen in a thrilling game played at College field here this afternoon.

It was the flashy Miller, midget Upbay speedster, who spelled defeat for the locals. He scored the first Gladstone touchdown in the third quarter on a 20 yard dash around left end. A few seconds later, he received Campeau's punt on his five yard line and raced 95 yards for a touchdown. He was aided on the run by some very efficient blocking on the part of his mates. Cannon made good on the extra point but Miller, who was holding the ball, was hurt on the play and removed from the game. Norton replaced the speedboy.

The Keilmen scored again in the final period when White crashed through the line on a short plunge, after the Upbays had taken the ball down the field on a long drive. The extra point failed and the game ended, 19-0.

In addition to Miller's effective play, DeSotelle, a freshman, did some very nice running for the visitors. Marquette's line displayed some great defensive work in the first half when they held the Keilmen within the five yard line on two different occasions.

The lineups were as follows:

| GLADSTONE | | MARQUETTE |
|---|---|---|
| Ottenhoff | LE | Allen |
| Swan | LT | McCombie |
| Dehlin | LG | Siltula |
| Collins | C | Campeau |

BUCKY GOES TO COACHING LINE

Senator Manager Will Become Active on Paths Again

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Manager Stanley (Bucky) Harris, Washington's "dugout boss" of the last season, plans to go on active base line coaching duty for the Senators during the next American League season.

When he took over the management of the Senators a year ago Harris announced he would do his master-minding from the bench and leave the actual coaching to the veteran Nick Altrock and Johnny Kerr. Now he's decided he can do a better job out on the field and will take over the first base coaching line.

The Senators have released Kerr and are seeking a third base coach. The Harris move to first base also means the virtual retirement of the 59-year-old Altrock from active duty. However, Nick will tutor the young hurlers and occasionally provide his old comic relief act to amuse the fans.

OFFICIALS WILL ATTEND SHOW

Public Works Exposition in East Lansing, Oct. 22 to 24

Ben Sparks, division highway engineer, and J. T. Sharpensteen, county road engineer, and members of the Delta county road commission are planning to attend the annual road, street and public works equipment exposition to be held at Michigan State College in East Lansing Oct. 22 to 24.

State Highway Commissioner Murry D. Van Wagoner will be one of the headliners also on the speaking program. The state highway department is co-operating constructively in preparations for the road building equipment exposition, and Commissioner Van Wagoner is personally lending valuable co-operation.

H. J. McKinley, manager, announces that manufacturers and distributors of road, street and public works equipment have shown a greater interest in this exposition than for any previous road show held in Michigan and their new models will be on display in the big demonstration building of Michigan State college for the first time. This will have a direct appeal to road commissioners, engineers and contractors, as 1936 promises to be a very active year in the road building industry in Michigan.

Mr. McKinley states that plans are complete for the installation of exhibits by Monday, October 21 and that the official opening of the exposition will take place at 10 a. m., Tuesday, October 22, in the big demonstration building. He also announces that the show will be a complete sell out and that there are very few spaces yet available. Valuable co-operation has been rendered by Sec'y John A. Hannah, W. A. Davenport, superintendent of building grounds of Michigan State college and his assistant, Ray Kimball.

George C. Schroeder, of Grand Rapids, who has materially assisted in previous road shows will assist Mr. McKinley this year in the working out of details of the enterprise.

Style Reigns Tho' It Rains

Maybe they don't know enough to come in out of the rain—or maybe they're just showing off their new raincoats, a pardonable exhibitionism when you note that the one at the left wears a rubberized wool flannel "all-weather" coat in a smart wrap-around style, and that the white broadcloth raglan at the right owes its ultra London looks to its casual drape, fly front and the swagger sweep of is 84-inch skirt.

More than 30,000,000,000 eggs are produced in the United States annually.

McCarl Will Give Decision On Park Allotment Oct. 25

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—New hope that Isle Royale will be purchased by the government for a national park for $705,000 was raised this week when the Department of Interior informed J. R. McCarl, Comptroller general, who returned the original request "without approval", that a revised warrant awaits his decision. It may or may not be favorable, but the verdict has been promised by October 25.

Mr. McCarl has absolute authority to stop the transfer of funds, which can not be disturbed even by the President.

The project was first proposed to President Roosevelt and Harold L. Ickes by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg who believed that Isle Royale in its wild beauty, would be a favorite national park, when developed, attracting many new and old tourists to the Upper Peninsula. Also it seemed to him a way to materially aid the financial stress of the people of that area.

PLAN ELECTION ON BUS ISSUE

Approval by Voters of Township Would Give State Aid

Munising, Oct. 19 — Monday morning at ten o'clock the polls will open for the special school election in Munising township in which the voters may vote to legalize transportation in the township so the district may receive aid from the state.

The question to be voted upon is: "Shall the Board of Education of Munising Township be authorized to provide adequate facilities for the transportation of children within the district from and to their homes to comply with Act 121 of the Public Acts of 1935?"

The voting requires merely a yes or no vote. A yes vote on this proposition does not mean any additional taxes or any cost to be borne by local taxpayers. The state of Michigan has already appropriated this money and it is to come from the general fund of the state. If the voters in Munising Township approve, then the school district can get its share of this fund.

At the present there are 171 pupils now being transported throughout the township. For the past several years transportation of these pupils for the township has cost about $5,000 each year. If the voters approve transportation by the district, then the state will allow up to $40 per pupil.

Voters of the township are urged to vote. The election will be held at the old city hall and the polls will be open from ten o'clock to five o'clock.

SAW MILL BUILT

Marcus A. Doty, J. F. McGovern and Ed Williams have formed an organization called the Alger Lumber company which is beginning operations as soon as construction is finished. The saw mill which is being installed about twelve miles north of Seney on the Grand Marais road is the result of the sale of over 2800 acres of timber land located north of Seney. This area for a long time was the subject of a dispute and it was finally sold by court order a few years ago with an award of seventy percent going to T. J. Sullivan and others and the remaining thirty percent going to R. W. Nebel, parties in the dispute. Fred Case of the Sault was appointed receiver.

Farmer's Union President Talks At Bark River

Agricultural problems and national policies were discussed at length by John Lentz, of Maybee, state president of the Farmers Union, in a talk at a meeting of Bark River township farmers at the Roosevelt Community Hall last evening. Other speakers on the program were: John Sparbel, Owosso, member of the executive board of the Farmers Union, and State Senator John Luecke, Escanaba.

Mr. Lentz pointed out in view of the fact that the government has been subsidizing business and industry for years through the tariff, excessive mail rates and RFC loans, there should be no argument against giving aid to agriculture. He explained in detail the Farmers' Union program for refinancing farm debts with the creation of a two billion dollar fund to give loans to farmers at three per cent.

Senator Luecke talked on the value of organization.

STORIES IN STAMPS

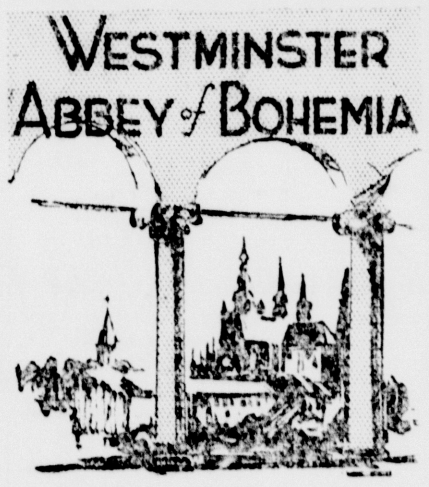
By I. S. Klein



RISING majestically above the old palace grounds in Prague, the famous Gothic Cathedral of St. Vitus remains a solemn monument to the builders of Czechoslovakia. For here, in the Westminster Abbey of Bohemia, lie buried the kings, queens and saints who made Czech history.

Founded in 935, some historians put it at 929, by Bohemia's "Good King Wenceslaus," who introduced Christianity and solidified the national spirit of the country, the church really grew to the edifice it is today by slow stages that lasted six centuries. In it lie the remains of King Wenceslaus and other great leaders of Czechoslovakia. Here also the Bohemian kings were crowned.

The stamp shown here is one of three issued by Czechoslovakia in 1929 on the 1000th anniversary of King Wenceslaus' death. It illustrates the founding of St. Vitus Cathedral by the famous ruler.
